

TALY threatened to recall her minister at Prague because Deputy Pilk, who is also Mayor of Pilzen (where the beer comes from), made a speech on Fascist activities, which the Italian minister thought offensive.

That shows how much more respect the Italian government has for Czechoslovakian deputies and mayors than for American ones. American congressmen, in both houses, discussing the Italian debt settlement, made speeches far more offensive than anything Deputy Pilk could have said. And American mayors, while they do not venture nothing offensive on Italian affairs, do not hesitate, on Irish affairs, to preside or speak at meetings which, if held in Ireland, would be suppressed by the Irish government and their participants jailed for treason to Ireland. Yet neither the Italian nor the Irish government protests when American politicians blow off steam in this manner. They know as well as we do how irresponsible the authors of these speeches are, and do not take them seriously. It is perhaps no compliment to us that they do take them seriously when they happen in Czechoslovakia.

THE British government, so the radio reports, protests sharply to Moscow against sending Soviet funds into England during the strike, for the purpose of effecting a change in the British government. Yet nowhere in the world is there such liberty allowed toward native agitators for similar changes, as in Britain.

The difference is, obviously, that the right of Englishmen to change their own government, by votes or by revolution, does not extend to foreign governments, or even to foreigners resident or visiting in England. An alien would be properly deported for things which a native might be elected to Parliament for saying.

THAT is a distinction which our American crusaders for free speech must also recognize. It is the right of any predominant American group to change the American government, by votes if it is numerous enough or by force if it is strong enough. It is therefore properly the privilege of minor groups, too weak to accomplish these changes, to agitate for them, in the hope of bringing enough others to their support to make them a major group. It is not their privilege to resort to force, unless they are strong enough to succeed, but it is their privilege to discuss, even that, short of overt act or direct excitement to it.

So far, the free speech crusaders are right. But not when they wish to extend this American privilege to foreigners within our borders. We have the right, if we like, to prohibit the foreigner from urging a change in our government even by the legitimate use of the ballot, and to deport him if he violates this condition. The right to change, or to try to change, the American government is an American right, not a universal one. Our state and national governments should be more liberal than they have been in recognizing this right of Americans. There can be no complaint even if they are completely arbitrary in denying it to aliens.

THE wets should praise the consistency of Congressman John J. Gorman of Illinois, who, the ship's radio says, has been fined for being drunk and disorderly. The city has been "voted as you drink." Here is evidently a congressman who drinks as he votes. Which also, if we are to accept the argument, is quite correct. As the wets pretend, no one has the right to support prohibition as a public policy unless he also regards drinking as a personal sin, the obverse should be that whoever opposes prohibition as a public policy should also eschew sobriety as a personal weakness. Congressman Gorman, if the radio is correct, evidently exemplified this logic. They should congratulate him.

CONCEDING that the eighteenth amendment can not be changed, and that while it lasts no law (like the beer and wine laws) inconsistent with it can be sustained, but proclaiming that there are places where neither the amendment nor the law can be enforced, except by the violation of other constitutional rights, the commonest refuge of the objectors is the analogy of the fifteenth amendment which, they say, is ignored by common consent in the very states which insist most strongly on the inviolability of the eighteenth.

FOLLOW out this and one other analogy: The fifteenth amendment forbids the states from denying the right of the negro to vote. None of them do deny it, but some of them pass laws whose practical result is to exclude as many of the negroes from the franchise as possible on other grounds, and they do this outside the law, to discourage its exercise by the remainder. Doubtless, some states will continue to do the same thing with alcoholic liquor. They can not authorize its legal sale, but they can make its illegal sale easy. We did that for a long time with prostitution. It was everywhere against the law, but it was tacitly tolerated, on the fiction of "necessary evil." Then, suddenly, we abandoned that fiction, and now prostitution, as an open, organized business, is tolerated practically nowhere. It continues only as a clandestine private vice. Nobody any longer regards its commercialization as "necessary."

Doubtless, for a long time, we shall have localities which think they must do the same thing to organized bootlegging. The battle will be long and slow. And then, suddenly, we will wake up, everywhere. Until prohibition has gone through these stages, it is not a "failure."

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—Madalynne Obenchain, joint defendant with Arthur Burch in the famous trial here, five years ago, on charges of slaying J. Belton Kennedy, is going to a lonely little island in the south Pacific "to find quiet and happiness." Both Mrs. Obenchain and Burch were acquitted.

"If I can only be left alone," said Mrs. Obenchain. "I only want to live with my dreams. A leper colony, a man 60 years old and about 200 natives are the only inhabitants of the island.

The name of the island is Rapanui. It is visited by the mail boat once in 18 months.

Mrs. Obenchain said she expected to leave here about August 1 for San Francisco, where she will sail for the island, located 2000 miles off the South American Pacific coast.

"I will never return to the United States," she said.

3 MEN BURNED ALIVE WHEN FIRE DESTROYS BUNKHOUSE

Scenes of Terror Enacted As Flames Break Out Where 33 Sleep

(By United Press)

COURTLAND, Calif., July 2.—At least three deaths were claimed by a fire which early today destroyed a bunkhouse on Sutter Island, in which 33 men, women and children were sleeping.

Searchers have located the bodies of two Filipinos and one Mexican, all men, in the ruins. Another Mexican farm hand was so badly burned he may die and several other occupants were injured in jumping from windows.

Names of the dead have not yet been obtained by authorities.

The bunkhouse was located on the property of Roy Peck.

Scenes of wildest terror reigned when the blaze broke out in the house. The fire, which started under the stairway, cut off the means of exit for 20 men, Filipinos, Mexicans and Japanese, who were sleeping in the upper part of the house.

Volunteer firemen fought the blaze, first with buckets and later with water obtained from an irrigation pump, but were unable to control it sufficiently to reach the men trapped in the upper story of the structure.

SENATE PASSES DILL RADIO BILL

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The Anti-Saloon league wrote virtually all of the Volstead act. Wayne B. Wheeler, of the Anti-Saloon league, told the Senate primary investigating committee today.

In answer to questions by Chairman Reed, the legislative agent of the league told of the methods employed to impress congress with the necessity of enacting the 18th amendment and its co-related enforcement law.

"Isn't it a fact that you wrote the Volstead act and picked out Representative Volstead as the man to champion the legislation in congress?" Reed asked.

"No, but we consulted with Dr. Volstead frequently."

" Didn't you dictate what amendments should be adopted to the bill when it was being considered?" "Only in part."

"But you got all you wanted?" "Not by a long shot. We had to get corrective changes two years later and we still are after changes."

Button-Holing Lawmakers

"So you are still bringing pressure through personally button-holing members of congress to get legislation enacted."

"That's your opinion," said Reed.

"Well, if the liquor interests will withdraw from the fight we will withdraw," returned Wheeler.

Hinckley Yates submitted to the committee the record of accounts of the Anti-Saloon league he obtained in inspecting

Child, 3, Dies From Eating Firecracker

SAN DIEGO, July 2.—The first local Fourth of July celebration fatality occurred today, when Margaret Hansen, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hansen, died after eating a firecracker. The child swallowed the firecracker yesterday and became extremely ill today. Before physicians could be called, she was dead. The child's father is attached to U. S. S. Mississippi, now at San Pedro. He was notified by radio.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 2.—Parliament was dissolved today by the governor-general and the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, whose cabinet was overthrown last night, began formation of a new government, the dissolution having been made at his request.

Meighen is now bound to give the country six weeks' notice of a general election, which, it is expected, will be held some time in October. In the meantime, the government now being formed will remain in control, but should it lose at the elections, it will be bound to resign immediately.

AIMEE 'PLANTED' ON DESERT, SAYS MAYOR

R. R. Gonzales, it was disclosed to-day.

Gonzales' statement, made at the request of Mayor Ernesto Boubion, of Agua Prieta, has been turned over to American authorities investigating the McPherson kidnapping mystery.

Gonzales is the Agua Prieta resident, who found Mrs. McPherson near his home at 1 o'clock on the morning of her self-asserted escape from kidnapers.

He said the evangelist told him her companions in the motor ride from Los Angeles were two men and a woman, called "Rose."

Describes Woman's Condition.

Gonzales, in his sworn statement, described also Mrs. McPherson's physical condition at the time of her discovery. "She did not seem very thirsty," he said, "but she fainted and drank half a glass of water after we revived her."

Mrs. McPherson, in her official statement here to Chief of Detectives Herman Cline, of Los Angeles, declared she had walked since 11 o'clock on the day preceding her arrival in Agua Prieta.

Gonzales' statement is said to differ with the original version of his discovery of Mrs. McPherson, and authorities are making a careful check of both of the Mexican's stories.

Mere Handful at Station

Only a handful of Douglas residents were at the station here last night when Mrs. McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, left on the Golden State Limited for Los Angeles. It was a marked contrast to the thousands who acclaimed the evangelist when she took her leave-taking a week ago.

Mrs. Kennedy addressed the crowd from the observation platform and announced that her evangelist daughter would return again and conduct a revival service here if the popular desire it. She asked members of the throng who wished Mrs. McPherson to come back to raise their hands. Only two in the crowd responded.

SIGNS MARKET BILL

WASHINGTON, July 2.—President Coolidge today signed the cooperative marketing bill, which provides for establishment of a cooperative marketing bureau within the department of agriculture to foster co-operative marketing among farmers.

TWO GRAND JURIES PROBE KIDNAPING

announced yesterday afternoon he would not use his prerogative and ask the grand jury to make an investigation, was the first witness called by the jurors in their self-initiated probe.

Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan and Chief of Detectives Herman Cline, who had handled the investigation thus far for Los Angeles county, were quizzed also by the grand jury.

Both Cline and the district attorney told the jurors what had been learned thus far in their check of Mrs. McPherson's kidnapping story.

"Nothing of importance transpired that I know of," said Cline. "We laid our evidence before the jury, and told them what we knew of the case."

Foreman W. H. Carter declared the grand jury would continue its investigation "until the McPherson case is settled once and for all."

"The duty of the grand jury is to see that the public is protected," he said. "The case has received such widespread notice that only the truth will settle it. It is the jury's duty to see that the public servants (officers of the law) do their best to arrive at a solution."

New Developments Expected

New developments were expected to follow Mrs. McPherson's return here this afternoon.

The evangelist, after her arrival, was to be visited by J. Edward Simpson, chief of the government's mail fraud department, and Deputy U. S. Attorney Albert K. Lucas. They will ask Mrs. McPherson to aid them in their efforts to trace the author and sender of the famous ransom letter.

The government investigators declared they would confine their entire investigation on the letter incident. Solution of this angle of the mystery, it was believed, would mean the identification of the "kidnapers" and the clearing up of the entire case.

District Attorney Keyes, it was learned today, made the following statement, in substance, to the grand jury:

"At present there is not sufficient evidence in the possession of officers to warrant the return of indictments against anybody for anything. We have Mrs. McPherson's story of her kidnapping, but we have no trace of her kidnapers. As soon as Chief Cline and his men secure one iota of evidence that crime has been committed, and that a solution is near, I will come before the grand jury and present all known facts in the case."

Jury Agrees with Keyes

Until Cline and his aides have obtained further evidence, the grand jury agreed with Keyes that there could be no further action at this time.

The case will be kept open, it was said by Foreman Carter, and if the district attorney's office produces new information, a further and more exhaustive probe will be undertaken by the grand jury.

Chief interest today centered on the federal inquiry into the ransom letter.

"Mother" Kennedy will be asked to aid the government men also in tracing the letter to its source.

"I shall be only too willing to do this," she said today, as her train sped homeward.

The evangelist's mother denied in detail that the "Avengers' letter" was in her hands previous to the memorial services at Angelus temple, on June 20, when upwards of $40,000 was collected for a "monument to Sister McPherson."

Believed 'Sister' Dead

"But what difference does it make if I didn't write the letter—I believed 'Sister' dead," she said. "It was not until I heard her voice on the telephone, on June 23, and she called me 'darling' that I realized it was she."

"The government does not know when it delivered the letter to the temple. There is no number on special delivery letters. They cannot say they delivered it at any particular time."

"I know I did not receive the letter until June 21—Monday—the day after the memorial service. I thought it was just another of those letters—we were receiving letters all the time."

Mrs. Kennedy declared the letter did not bear a special delivery stamp, and added that it had been opened before she received it. She said that either Mrs. Blanche O. Rice, mail clerk at the temple, or Miss Emma Schaffer, companion to Mrs. McPherson prior to her disappearance, might have held the letter over from Saturday.

loans to local state organizations, which could not support themselves.

The league, said Wheeler, recommends men for appointment to dry enforcement offices, but denied it "dictated" appointments.

"Your organization," Reed asked, "interferes with appointment of prohibition enforcement officers, doesn't it now, that's the God Almighty's truth on your oath, isn't it?"

When League Interferes

"We interfere where they try to put over crooked men on us," Wheeler replied.

"And you interfere to get your own men appointed, don't you?"

"We try to get good men appointed and keep bad men from being appointed."

Wheeler said no money was spent in the Pennsylvania primary, because the organization could not agree on a candidate. He said the league had spent money in the Oregon, Minnesota and Wisconsin primaries.

He said $200 was sent to Wisconsin two weeks ago; $200 to Oregon and $150 to Minnesota. The money was used to support the dry congressional and senatorial campaigns and to defeat the wets."

Wheeler submitted a list of contributors to the primary campaign fund which included W. H. Cowles, Spokane, Wash., $200, and F. J. Condit, Long Beach, Calif., $200.

BOY WINS ACTION AGAINST DOCTORS

STOCKTON, July 2.—Seven-year-old Fred Warner Phillips won a judgment of $25,000 against Drs. Dewey R. Powell and H. S. Chapman. The verdict followed a lengthy trial, in which it was shown that part of a knife blade had been left in the boy's neck following an operation two years ago. The jury was out but 40 minutes.

Willie took the victory as a matter of course. He was much less nervous than his scowling opponent and performed more sensational than at any time during the five-day tournament.

The scores were 13-0, 13-0, 9-4, 13-0, 6-13, 19-5.

TWO SPEEDERS DRAW JAIL IN JUSTICE COURT

Two men drew jail sentences and 19 other motorists were fined a total of $660 for traffic violations, most of which were speeding cases, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

A score or more of other alleged violators did not appear or gained continuances.

Those sentenced to jail were: Henry A. Prachaska, 23, 428 West Queen street, Inglewood, who pleaded guilty to speeding 58 miles an hour, and Edward N. Hines, 1132 Mariposa street, Los Angeles, who was accused of speeding 50 miles an hour. Both received sentences of five days. Prachaska is in jail now and Hines made arrangements to appear at the jail on July 9.

Fines were given to the following: A. M. King, Los Angeles, overloading, $40; Rex Charles Landry, Los Angeles, 49 miles an hour, $25; Phillip Mixsell, Hollywood, 35 miles an hour in 15 mile zone, $10; W. B. Martin, San Diego, 48 miles an hour, $10; Joseph Ninni, Long Beach, 45 miles an hour, $20; Rodney Bristol, Los Angeles, 48 miles an hour, $25; Jacob L. Stein, Los Angeles, 45 miles an hour, $10; James Blackburn, Norwalk, 32 miles an hour in 20 mile zone, $10; C. R. Beaupre, Los Angeles, reckless driving, $250; Harold Crocoff, Santa Ana, 35 miles an hour in 15 mile zone, $10; Alex P. Craig, Los Angeles, 48 miles an hour, $25; Nelson Gary, Los Angeles, 48 miles an hour, $25; R. W. Hush, Los Angeles, 47 miles an hour, $25; E. E. Hill, Anaheim, 45 miles an hour, $15; E. W. Johnson, 45 miles an hour, $5; G. E. Gale, Santa Ana, 42 miles an hour, $5; Charles Hoss, 21 miles an hour in 15 mile zone, $5; R. O. Smith, 45 miles an hour, $25; and Herbert Stanley, Long Beach, 45 miles an hour, $20.

Miss Claire Cushman, of Hollywood, arrested last week, at the end of South Main street, charged with speeding 55 miles an hour, did not appear. She sent a representative with whom Justice Morrison could not "do business". The girl is expected to return to court here late this afternoon.

Santa Ana Lodge No. 241, F. &amp; A. M., will meet at the Temple Saturday, July 3rd, at 1:30 p. m., to conduct the annual meeting of our late Bro. Harry H. Mitchell. All Masons urged to attend.

Absence of Pink Salmon Cause of Cannery Closing

SEATTLE, July 2.—Absence of pink salmon in Puget Sound this year will result in only 10 of the 22 canneries on its shores operating, according to Lee B. Carroll,

Acacorte cannery man.

The behavior of the pinks is unexplainable. Pink salmon appear in Puget Sound only every two years, on the odd numbered years. In the meantime, it is a question where they go, according to Carroll. Experts may only speculate he said. They may go to the Arctic wastes and hibernate under the ice floes, or spend the season in some warm depth in the tropics.

But they always return every two years, Carroll said, as proved by the tags researchers have placed on them.

Because this is the off-year for pinks, the canneries which are running will have to be content with the lighter colored fish and the more inferior grades.

With respect to the "sock eye," or famous red variety, the case is twice as bad according to Carroll, who has studied the habits of salmon for years.

"When the sock eyes go, they

POLICE WILL ENFORCE LAWS AGAINST SHOOTING CRACKERS WITHIN SANTA ANA LIMITS

Santa Ana is to have a safe and sane Fourth of July, that is, if it is in the power of the police, backed up by two strong city ordinances, to have one. One of the ordinances prohibits the sale of fire crackers in the city and the other calls attention to the fact that it is against the law to shoot firecrackers inside the city limits.

The ordinance prohibiting the sale of firecrackers was passed on July 6, last year, immediately after Independence Day, but the ordinance which prohibits persons from celebrating with fireworks is one of the oldest of city ordinances and dates back to June 24, 1889, when John Avas was president of the board of trustees and Ed Tedford was city clerk.

Selling Prohibited Also
City Marshal Claude Rogers said today that he would strictly enforce the laws of the city pertaining to the selling and shooting of firecrackers on the national holiday, and that his men would be looking for this form of violation of the law.

Cap pistols and little fireworks known as "sparklers" are not mentioned in the ordinance and if Santa Anans want to celebrate in this manner, it is perfectly all right with the city officers. Boys may shoot their cap pistols until their fingers get tired, pulling the triggers, but they must not attempt a more impressive demonstration.

Rogers said: "Here is Ordinance

The ordinance passed by a "safe and sane" city council in 1889, which prohibits the shooting of firecrackers reads in part:

"It shall be and is hereby made unlawful for any person or persons, within the city limits of the city of Santa Ana, to discharge or explode any gun, pistol or cannon, or to explode or set off any fireworks, torpedoes, firecrackers or other explosives, except on public occasions, and then only after written permission shall have been obtained from the president of the board of trustees or the city marshal, which said permission shall fix a time and place and restrict the manner in which such public demonstration may be had."

Provides Stiff Penalty.

For violation of this ordinance an citizen may find himself facing a $100 fine or 30 days in the county jail, the ordinance points out. The ordinance passed last year provides a fine of $300, or three months in the county jail, for violation of the law.

HEN OWNER SUES AIR SCHOOL HEAD

WANTED by police officers in Riverside county, W. A. Bach, 50, who told jailers that he was a doctor of medicine, was arrested by Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, shortly before noon today, at his rooms in the Broadway apartments, Santa Ana.

He is being held in the county jail, pending the arrival of Riverside authorities.

Mr. Bach is wanted in Riverside county on a charge of purchasing medicine illegally, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

Bach will be taken to Riverside late today, it was said.

Glatt names Page and the Lincoln Standard Aircraft company defendants and also asks for a permanent injunction to keep planes out of the air above his farm, which is adjacent to the field.

Legal rights to the air and the nervous disposition of poultry are expected to be major points in the trial, attorneys said.

NINE LYNCHED IN FIRST HALF 1926

TUSKEGEE, Ala., July 2.—Nine persons were lynched during the first six months of 1926, records at Tuskegee Institute reveal. This was an increase of four over the number of persons who died through mob violence in the same months of 1925, although a marked decrease over the same period of the three previous years.

Six of the persons lynched were negroes, two white and one Indian, and three of them were charged with murder, one with burglary and one with wounding an officer of the law. The others faced various charges involving insults to women.

The states in which the lynchings occurred were Arkansas, 1; Florida, 3; Kentucky, 1; Mississippi, 2; New Mexico, 1, and Texas, 1.

ADmits STARTING BLAZE IN FOREST

REDDING, Calif., July 2.—Charles Jones, 50, a resident of the Centerville region, admitted that he had started the fire which has burned in that vicinity for a week when he was arrested and brought here. The fire destroyed the pioneer Swiss homestead buildings at Potosi mine, hundreds of acres of pasture land and fencing west of here.

Jones said he had started a brush fire and it got beyond control. Complaint for his arrest was sworn out by W. Crews, a neighbor, who lost 10 acres of pasture land.

Judge A. F. Hoss gave Jones a suspended six months' jail sentence on the promise that he will never start a fire again.

COTTON CROP PROSPECTS ARE UNDER NORMAL

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The condition of the cotton crop on June 25 was 75.4 per cent of normal indicating a production of 15,855,000 bales, the crop reporting board of the agricultural department estimated today.

There were 48,588,000 acres of cotton in cultivation on June 25.

If developments during the remainder of the season are as unfavorable as the 1921-22-23 seasons, a total production of 13,726,000 bales might be expected, but if later developments are as favorable to the crop as during 1924 and 1925, a total production of about 16,294,000 bales was forecast.

The area in cultivation on June 25 was 1.7 per cent more than last year. If the per cent of cotton abandoned during this season should remain equal to the average of the past ten years, the area to be harvested would total 47,153,000 acres.

Final European Letter Detailing Events of Trip to Egypt

Today we are presenting the final one of the interesting letters written by Miss Ada May Sharpless, talented young Santa Ana girl art student in Paris, whose account of a motor trip down through France and Spain ends with her fascinating experiences in Tangiers in northern Africa. The preceding letters recounted her impressions of the trip, the city of Tangiers and experiences in a harem.

MISS MARJORIE STULZ

Miss Stulz is an eastern dietician and Columbia graduate who turns her knowledge of ability to aiding housewives learn to cook electrically. She conducts her daily demonstrations at the Southern California Edison company, 301 North Main street.

"The most interesting part of the afternoon was when the guide took us to his home to see his wife. We entered and went upstairs to be shown into a small room with cushions all around the walls on the floor. And there, seated against the satin brocaded wall, was the most beautiful young Oriental girl one's wildest imaginings could picture.

"She wore a brocaded satin robe heavily embroidered in silver over which was worn a lacy white dress. On her head were several silken scarfs and veils that hung to the floor. She was barefooted as they always take off their slippers on entering a room. Her eyes were perfectly beautiful, almond in shape, and her eyebrows were heavy and straight with a V painted between them to the bridge of her nose. A strand of her black hair came down around her face and under her chin with her ears showing behind it with enormous earrings in them. She wore necklaces and bracelets and was quite the most gorgeous creature I ever beheld.

"Absalom's mother and sister, his niece and a young brother of his wife were all there and they served us mint tea and honey cakes. We had quite a time getting our feet tucked under us out of the way of the tea which was served from the floor where it rested on a beautiful big brass tray. None of them could speak a word of English or French so what little conversation we had, was translated by Absalom, but all of them were pleasant and nice. The mother was enormously fat, but the other two girls were quite slender but not at all pretty.

"Absalom's mother had picked out his wife for him, after the Moorish custom and they had never seen each other before the marriage. It is always done that way and if the husband doesn't like the girl, he gets papers of divorce and sends her home, but if she doesn't like him, she has to stay anyway.

"Absalom's wife has never been out of her mother-in-law's home since her marriage and has seen no man except her brother-in-law, once three months after the wedding. She spends her time embroidering articles which her husband sells.

"When we left, they gave us some queer bread like cakes to take home as souvenirs. Absalom took us home and left us and then we went alone to see the bazaars. I got some lovely leather goods including a gold-embroidered purse for evening use, a brilliantly embroidered hand-bag, a gold stamped book cover and a piece of all-over hand-embroidery in deep rich silks which will make a gorgeous piano throw or a drapery for the wall."

After a series of such interesting happenings in Tangiers, Miss Sharpless and her friends started in their return across the Mediterranean and northwards to Paris. Writing from Seville, she continues her narration.

"We arrived in Seville at noon and had the good fortune to see the last afternoon and evening of the big Spring Festival. It was mostly in the form of a parade of carriages and fine horses and cars filled with Spanish ladies in their most beautiful shawls with high combs and mantillas. We got in the parade too, as everybody was doing, and had a good view of everything as the parade turned at the ends of the long avenues and doubled back.

"In the evening, we took in the boots and pavilions which seemed devoted principally to dancing—either Spanish or jazz—with groups of friends taking turns in exhibiting their skill. Unfortunately for us they were really very unskilled and we were much disappointed in not finding the thrilling, whirling atmosphere we had been led to expect from the movies. After wandering around through the crowd in the park, we went in search of 'atmosphere' down town. We found an old cheap cabaret with dancing for entertainment, and at last we got a sample of the real thing. However only the men were good, but they were really marvelous. The women were hopelessly fat and ugly, and with so little grace."

The return trip of the party to Paris was over the same beautiful country described in the earlier letters and Miss Sharpless was again in the witching city on the Seine, and fully rested in readiness to greet her mother and sister Mrs. B. H. Sharpless upon their arrival after a pleasant voyage across the Atlantic. The two Santa Anans will spend the summer in Paris and on interesting continental trips, returning to their Orange

UCH a merry evening as was recently enjoyed by the alumni of the Teacher Training class of the First Methodist Sunday school! The young women of the class were bidden to the George M. Ramsay home on Palm street, and much wonder prevailed when they were not to wear delicate or easily harmed dresses.

The reason was soon apparent, however, for all were given the privilege of taking part in the concoction of a freezer of delicious ice cream. Soldons has this task been attended with such gaiety and merriment. The laughter and fun, partially checked during a short business meeting, was resumed immediately afterwards while they filed in to get their ice cream and cake.

There were fourteen present, for the light-hearted group insisted that the funny kitten belonging to their hostess, should be considered a guest. The list therefore, stands at Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey, the Misses Verma, Jean and Eva Ramsey, saucy young Kitten Ramsey, and the Misses Cora Holt, Mary Dunstan, Inez Hickman, Ruth Heacock, Gladys Flinut and Ruth Goodrich. Later in the evening, Mr. Howland and Mr. McArthur joined them.

This was the first meeting of the class alumni, and the members one and all, are anticipating future delightful gatherings as well as a steady increase in membership.

Miss Stulz is an eastern dietician and Columbia graduate who turns her knowledge of ability to aiding housewives learn to cook electrically. She conducts her daily demonstrations at the Southern California Edison company, 301 North Main street.

"No higher work is given any woman than maintaining her family in the peace and security that is induced by excellent food appetizingly prepared," today declared an interesting young woman visitor to Santa Ana, engaged in demonstrating electric ranges in connection with the Southern California Edison company.

She was a brocaded satin robe heavily embroidered in silver over which was worn a lacy white dress. On her head were several silken scarfs and veils that hung to the floor. She was barefooted as they always take off their slippers on entering a room. Her eyes were perfectly beautiful, almond in shape, and her eyebrows were heavy and straight with a V painted between them to the bridge of her nose. A strand of her black hair came down around her face and under her chin with her ears showing behind it with enormous earrings in them. She wore necklaces and bracelets and was quite the most gorgeous creature I ever beheld.

"Absalom's mother and sister, his niece and a young brother of his wife were all there and they served us mint tea and honey cakes. We had quite a time getting our feet tucked under us out of the way of the tea which was served from the floor where it rested on a beautiful big brass tray. None of them could speak a word of English or French so what little conversation we had, was translated by Absalom, but all of them were pleasant and nice. The mother was enormously fat, but the other two girls were quite slender but not at all pretty.

"Absalom's mother had picked out his wife for him, after the Moorish custom and they had never seen each other before the marriage. It is always done that way and if the husband doesn't like the girl, he gets papers of divorce and sends her home, but if she doesn't like him, she has to stay anyway.

"Absalom's wife has never been out of her mother-in-law's home since her marriage and has seen no man except her brother-in-law, once three months after the wedding. She spends her time embroidering articles which her husband sells.

"When we left, they gave us some queer bread like cakes to take home as souvenirs. Absalom took us home and left us and then we went alone to see the bazaars. I got some lovely leather goods including a gold-embroidered purse for evening use, a brilliantly embroidered hand-bag, a gold stamped book cover and a piece of all-over hand-embroidery in deep rich silks which will make a gorgeous piano throw or a drapery for the wall."

After a series of such interesting happenings in Tangiers, Miss Sharpless and her friends started in their return across the Mediterranean and northwards to Paris. Writing from Seville, she continues her narration.

"We arrived in Seville at noon and had the good fortune to see the last afternoon and evening of the big Spring Festival. It was mostly in the form of a parade of carriages and fine horses and cars filled with Spanish ladies in their most beautiful shawls with high combs and mantillas. We got in the parade too, as everybody was doing, and had a good view of everything as the parade turned at the ends of the long avenues and doubled back.

"In the evening, we took in the boots and pavilions which seemed devoted principally to dancing—either Spanish or jazz—with groups of friends taking turns in exhibiting their skill. Unfortunately for us they were really very unskilled and we were much disappointed in not finding the thrilling, whirling atmosphere we had been led to expect from the movies. After wandering around through the crowd in the park, we went in search of 'atmosphere' down town. We found an old cheap cabaret with dancing for entertainment, and at last we got a sample of the real thing. However only the men were good, but they were really marvelous. The women were hopelessly fat and ugly, and with so little grace."

The return trip of the party to Paris was over the same beautiful country described in the earlier letters and Miss Sharpless was again in the witching city on the Seine, and fully rested in readiness to greet her mother and sister Mrs. B. H. Sharpless upon their arrival after a pleasant voyage across the Atlantic. The two Santa Anans will spend the summer in Paris and on interesting continental trips, returning to their Orange

California Named In Apportionment

WASHINGTON, July 2.—After more than a year of intermittent hearings, the congressional commission investigating land grants to the Northern Pacific Railroad company and its successor, the Northern Pacific Railway company, has concluded the taking of testimony. It has until early next year to file its report.

The inquiry was ordered late in the last congress at the request of the forestry service, when the railroad claimed that approximately 3,000,000 acres remained due it under the land grant acts of 1864 and 1870.

The acts gave the railroad certain acreage for each mile of railroad constructed.

"In the evening, we took in the boots and pavilions which seemed devoted principally to dancing—either Spanish or jazz—with groups of friends taking turns in exhibiting their skill. Unfortunately for us they were really very unskilled and we were much disappointed in not finding the thrilling, whirling atmosphere we had been led to expect from the movies. After wandering around through the crowd in the park, we went in search of 'atmosphere' down town. We found an old cheap cabaret with dancing for entertainment, and at last we got a sample of the real thing. However only the men were good, but they were really marvelous. The women were hopelessly fat and ugly, and with so little grace."

The judge asserted that he apparently exercised such fascinations over the bank directors that they blindly believed all that he told them and granted his demands without investigation. The convicted man did not hear the record fine assessed against him as he is in the prison hospital where physicians have certified that he is dying. He has been in failing health for some time.

The return trip of the party to Paris was over the same beautiful country described in the earlier letters and Miss Sharpless was again in the witching city on the Seine, and fully rested in readiness to greet her mother and sister Mrs. B. H. Sharpless upon their arrival after a pleasant voyage across the Atlantic. The two Santa Anans will spend the summer in Paris and on interesting continental trips, returning to their Orange country home in the early autumn. In all probability Miss Ada May Sharpless will remain for an extended period of study in Paris.

Local Relatives Among Guests at Wedding In Long Beach

MONG interesting guests in the party are Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Houtz of Utah who are visiting in the home of Mrs. Houtz's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dugan, 222 South Sycamore street, after a pleasant motor trip across the intervening miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Houtz came to California for the express purpose of attending the wedding of their son, Carl Grant Houtz, to Miss Margaret Jane Ackroyd, attractive Long Beach girl, an event of much interest and charm last night in the neighboring beach city.

The parlors of the First Congregational church were the scene of the ceremony for which half a hundred relatives and close friends gathered. The rooms were converted into a bower of summer bloom with quantities of gladioli, dahlias and other flowers of the season offering the lovely pastel background.

Just preceding the entry of the bride party, Mrs. Beulah Franzen sweetly sang "Love's Old Sweet Song," after which the Wedding March signalled the approach of the bride and her attendants. The Rev. Henry Kendall Booth, pastor of the church, together with Mr. Houtz and his best man, Raymond Clyde Houtz, stood before a bank of flowers to await the bride.

Miss Ackroyd chose an exquisite gown of white crepe satin and carried bride roses showered with sweet peas. She entered on the arm of her father, Amos Ackroyd and was attended by Mrs. Carl Haven Young as matron of honor, and Miss Lucille Nieman as bridesmaid. Each wore a small little silk frock in pastel tints and carried pink sweet peas. Carl Haven Young and Charles A. King as ushers completed the picturesque group.

The full ring service was employed by the Rev. Mr. Booth who conducted the ceremonial in a beautifully impressive manner. Later the guests gathered around the young people to extend their congratulations and good wishes during an informal reception hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Houtz Jr. then took their departure for a motor honeymoon and upon their return will establish a home in Long Beach where Mr. Houtz expects to enter business.

Mr. and Mrs. Dugan, of this city, attended the wedding of their nephew, accompanying his parents and their house-guests, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Houtz. The latter will remain for another week before departing on their homeward motor trip via San Francisco and the northern cities.

Music Recital

EBELL auditorium will be the Mecca for music-loving folk of the city tonight, when two prominent artist-teachers, Ellis Rhodes and Holly Lash Visel, will present a group of their more advanced pupils in voice and expression.

Mr. Rhodes who, in addition to his local studio in connection with the Conservatory of Music, maintains a similar studio in Los Angeles, promises to bring several of his Los Angeles pupils who are quite well-known here, to aid in the entertainment. At the same time, Mrs. Visel will present a group of her adult pupils, and the combination promises to offer one of the most pleasing of the season's recitals.

The two artists have issued invitations to all interested friends, to be present at the auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight, when the program will begin.

CROOKSHANK INSTALLED AS PRESIDENT OF LIONS CLUB; PINS GIVEN OLD OFFICERS

C. S. Crookshank, former cashier of the First National bank, and still an active member of the board of directors, today had assumed the duties of directing the activities of the Santa Ana Lions club for the coming twelve months. Crookshank was installed as president last night at ceremonies held at the Ebell clubhouse. Other officers also were installed.

Emory Yunt, of Pomona, past governor of the fourth district of Lions, was the installing officer, and he presented an obligation to each officer. The services were impressive, and the installing officer very efficiently gave the charges to the individuals who will be responsible for the club's work during the coming year.

Praises Service Clubs

Preceding the formal installation, Yunt commented on Lionism and the influence of service clubs on city, county, state and national life. He asserted that this influence was being used in a revision of business methods and in the consideration of boys and girls in regard to employment.

Comparing the attitude of industrialists, business men and parents of 25 and 30 years ago, when keen interest was manifested in developing youth in business and in cementing home ties, with the tendency of the past few years to permit the young people to drift for themselves, the speaker asserted that the trend of the present time is toward the former days.

At conclusion of the installation, Yunt, in behalf of the club, presented Eddie Holmes with a past secretary's pin and Harold Wahlberg with a past president's button.

Local Den Well Known

Yunt paid tribute to the retiring officers and declared that at International headquarters, in Chicago, the Santa Ana den is known as one of the best and most active clubs in the organization.

Important actions by the club in the past year were reviewed by Wahlberg, and Secretary Holmes gave his final report, showing that 66 men are identified with the club. Homer Chaney, treasurer, revealed in his report that the organization, financially, is in a healthy condition.

In assuming the position of president, Crookshank complimented Wahlberg on his wonderful success as a presiding officer and director of the club's activities, and himself promised to give his best effort to maintaining the club in the rank it has attained while in the hands of Wahlberg.

Entertainers Please

Dinner was served to 64 men and women, with a group of Lions acting as waiters. The diners were entertained in a clever way, by Clarence Willard, of the Yost Broadway vaudeville bill, and by vocal selections by Cecil Willits and the Lions quartet.

The evening concluded with dancing to music furnished by the Coe orchestra.

Present as special guests of the club were V. W. Whitson, president of Kiwanis club; F. C. Rowland, president of the Rotary club; W. A. Flood, president of the Knights of the Round Table; Floyd Croddy, president of the Exchange club, and Miss Louise Kaiser, president of the Business and Professional Women's club.

SLAVE TRADE IN AFRICA EXPOSED

CAPETOWN, July 2.—Startling revelations of slave trade in the African province of Bechuanaland came out this week when Simon Ratshosa, one of the native princes of the largest tribe of Bamangwatos, testified in his trial for an attempt to murder Chief Tschekeedi.

Simon said the Masawara slaves told him their masters have the power of life and death over them. The penalty for killing a slave is no more than for killing sheep and cattle. The slaves declared their masters beat, burn or shoot them if they run away and do not pay them for their work. The Bamangwatos make the Masawaras go into the wild veldt to steal Masawara children and bring them into slavery.

The prince, during cross-examination, had it seen that Masawara slaves with reins around their necks being driven like horses, and has seen others burned at the stake, but that he did not dare interfere because the tribal headmen control the rich slave trade and really rule the country.

Lauds Register
For Editorial
On Court Cases

Congratulating the Santa Ana Register for its editorial of yesterday, urging the necessity for speedy prosecutions of court cases, Superior Judge Z. B. West suited action to his word today in the case of F. E. Welch, who pleaded not guilty to a liquor charge, and Welch's trial was set for July 7, less than a week away.

"I am glad to see the public press come out in the position the Register did last night and urge the necessity of hastening up prosecution of every character," said Judge West. "I have been contending for that ever since I can remember. The editorial was one of the most timely that I have seen in many a day. The Register is to be congratulated."

Attorney Marshal Stuttsman, of Los Angeles, who represents the defense of Welch, had asked the court for a trial as early as July 17, but Stuttsman had scarcely hoped to secure a date so advanced upon the court calendar. A surprise was in store for him.

"I don't see any reason why we should put it off that long," said Judge West. "We'll have it on July 7."

LOOK AT WATCH
BEFORE ASKING
HOUSE NUMBER

It doesn't pay to ring doorbells at 3 o'clock in the morning. Not in Orange anyway, as Max Duncan, 34, of Compton, has discovered to his sorrow.

It seems that Duncan stopped his car at Cambridge and Palm streets at the hour mentioned and sought advice from sleepy citizens as to the location of North Pine street. The combination of loud bells and angry voices caused such excitement that a hurry call was sent to the police station. Officers Tom Griffith and Earl Shaffer hurried to the scene, although it is not known whether they went in a high powered car or whether they were equipped with sawed-off shotguns.

At any rate, when they arrived, the Compton resident was still vainly seeking information.

When Duncan appeared before Justice Ingle this morning, he not only was fined $25 on a charge of disturbing the peace, but was also forced to pay an additional $15 declared to be due on an intoxication charge fine assessed March 14. Duncan denied that he was the man who paid $10 down a $25 fine and promised to pay the remaining $15 when he got home.

Moral: Look at your watch before ringing doorbells, especially in Orange.

Court Notes

Would Foreclose Mortgage
A. D. Van Vranken has filed an action in superior court to foreclose a $4000 mortgage against property near Lemon Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Tarver Montgomery and other are named defendants in the case.

Suit Against Sheriff

Charging that Sheriff Sam Jernigan failed to satisfy an execution of judgment against the West Coast Textile company, of Orange, the First Commercial Bank of Orange today had a suit on file in superior court asking judgment for $8743.68 damages against the sheriff.

That sum represents the amount of the judgment which the bank claims to have obtained against the textile company. An attachment was filed and served by the sheriff, who had the property of the textile company in his hands. It was said. The court then issued an execution of judgment which was handed to the sheriff. The latter, however, failed to satisfy it from the property in his hands, it was alleged.

Attorneys A. E. Koepsel and L. F. Coburn of Orange, represent the bank.

Seeks to Regain Deposit

Hjalmar Knudson deposited $1350 with C. S. Winslow, he claims, to purchase a half-interest in oil leases upon 1934 acres of land in Torrance county, New Mexico, and 800 acres in De Baca county, New Mexico. But the interest was not purchased for him and the money was not returned to him, he alleges in a suit filed against Winslow in superior court. Knudson asks judgment for the amount named. Attorneys W. F. Merton and S. B. Kaufman, of Santa Ana, represent Knudson.

Divorce Suit Filed

A. P. Harwood of Santa Ana today had a suit for divorce on file in superior court against Edna M. Harwood whom he charges with desertion. They were married in Streator, Illinois, in 1906, and separated in 1925. Attorneys Harvey and Harvey represent the plaintiff.

Would Be Supervisor

Sterling Price of Bolsa, today applied for a nominating petition as a candidate for supervisor from the second district.

Asks to Administer Estate

Vicente Duarte had petition on file in superior court today asking appointment as administrator of the $1000 estate left by his father, David Duarte, of Santa Ana. The widow, Marguerite Duarte and six children are the heirs. Attorney Carl M. Heim represents the petitioner.

Delay Salcido Sentencing

The case of Guadalupe Salcido, convicted burglar who was scheduled to receive sentence from Superior Judge Z. B. West at 9:30 a.m. today, was postponed until later today for investigation. It was rumored that Salcido might apply for probation. His attorney today filed motions with the court asking for a new trial, for arrest of judgment and notice of appeal.

"I am glad to see the public press come out in the position the Register did last night and urge the necessity of hastening up prosecution of every character," said Judge West. "I have been contending for that ever since I can remember. The editorial was one of the most timely that I have seen in many a day. The Register is to be congratulated."

Attorney Marshal Stuttsman, of Los Angeles, who represents the defense of Welch, had asked the court for a trial as early as July 17, but Stuttsman had scarcely hoped to secure a date so advanced upon the court calendar. A surprise was in store for him.

PARABASE—a General Motor Oil—was made to take care of those last few miles of lubrication, as well as the first ones. It is in the last few miles, just before you put fresh oil in, that the damage is done. Parabase will take you just as far as you expect it to and then a little farther.

Parabase stands up—stress and heat in the motor do not cause it to quickly break down—it is your insurance that at the end of the run your motor will be as sound, as far as the lubrication of its moving parts is concerned, as it was at the start.

Drain your crank-case every thousand miles. Tell the garage or service station man to fill up with Parabase. Notice the immediate difference in your motor—and remember—"It's the end of the run that counts."

Mrs. Hall Performs Stunts
With Ease of Expert,
Instructor Says

Flying today? Pretty Peggy Hall, who resides at Sixth and Spurgeon streets, Santa Ana, will take you up. And no extra charge either.

The local woman has won the distinction of being one of the few women in the country with ability to handle the stick of an airplane.

As the student of Eddie Martin, at his airport on South Main street, Mrs. Hall has learned to fly. She made her "solo" flight with the skill of an expert Wednesday.

Known Stunt Flying

Stunt flying is also Peggy's line. Perhaps there are half a dozen girl dyers in California, but there probably isn't another girl who can perform the tail spin, loop the loop, side dip, Immelmann turn, and other hair raisers, with the ease with which she performs them, according to Martin.

Her age?

"That isn't fair," she remarked, with a smile, but agreed to let it go at "sweet sixteen."

Peggy has as an object owning an airplane. She is to do exhibition flying at Martin's field and at other air ports in Southern California in about a month.

Learned to Fly Quickly

With amazing quickness, she learned to fly. Martin said that she has been in the air about 30 hours in the past three months and that she really was capable of making her "solo" flight about a month ago.

The occasion of making her "solo" flight was packed with delight and confidence for Peggy.

Incidentally Peggy is only a nickname. Her real name is Sacha Hall.

"I don't know how I acquired the name of Peggy. I guess it was too hard to remember my real name," she said.

Martin Compliments Her

In making her "solo" trip, Peggy flew a lighter Curtiss JN4D than she used while she was being instructed.

"That was a pretty flight," Martin said, in complimenting his student at the end of the "solo" trip.

No, Peggy does not lose her nerve. She declares that never once during her flying has she felt scared or had any hair-breadth escapes. Flying is a pleasure to her. When she gets her ship she says that she is going to take all her friends for a ride.

Peggy is extremely modest. She didn't want to say anything about herself and asked Eddie to "say it."

Ready for Next War

In case another war sends its call for aviators—and it is said the next war will be in the air—Peggy will not be "drafted." She'll volunteer. And why not? Women are entering varied fields of activities that were formerly exclusively claimed by men and why should not a girl be prepared to defend her country, Peggy argued.

She is one girl who is—so why say more?

TRUEBLOOD SAYS HE GOT IT FROM DECKER

Editor Register: Referring to an article in Public Forum of Wednesday's Register over the name of W. S. Decker, regarding the improvement of South Main street, I beg to say that I am one who has told of "the scheme" to condemn five feet off of the lots of property owners after the paving and widening of street had been completed.

Where did I get this information? From Mr. Decker, himself, who presented a petition for the widening and paving and said that "just as soon as we get the street widened the 'scheme' is to condemn five feet off of each lot—that will give a ten or twelve foot pavement."

I am and at all times have been in favor of improving our street but told Mr. Decker that I was not in sympathy with the "scheme."

Now, simply to justify myself with my neighbors and friends on South Main street, with whom I have discussed this matter, I feel it is only fair that they should be informed of the source of my information.

H. T. TRUEBLOOD.

JAIL MEXICAN FOR OPERATING STILL

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, after Officers Ed McClellan and Jack Combs, of the sheriff's office, are alleged to have found a still and six gallons of liquor in his home, M. Hernandez, blind Mexican, of Del Norte, was found guilty by Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison, yesterday afternoon, and fined $500, or given the alternate of spending 60 days in the county jail.

The alleged operator of the still is in the county jail, having failed to raise the amount of the fine.

Hernandez was arrested by officers on the same charge last April and was shown leniency by the court. He was allowed to go on condition that he refrain from distilling liquor. The still found by officers Wednesday at his home was in a house next door to the one where he was arrested in April, McClellan said.

OFFICERS WILL HEAR TALK BY JUDGE CLARKE

Members of the Orange County Peace Officers' association are looking forward to their July meeting, which will be held at the Hewes ranch, when they will be guests of D. Eymann Huff, at one of Huff's famous steak dinners. The date for the meeting is July 7 and the dinner will be served at 6 p.m. Herman Kabel, president, announced to-day.

More than 65 peace officers of Orange county towns, together with county and state officers will attend the meeting, which promises to be the biggest gathering in the history of the organization, Zabel added.

Robert M. Clarke, Los Angeles candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator, and a former superior court judge of Ventura county, will deliver the principal address.

Police Sergeant E. O. Johnson, of the Los Angeles police force, who is conducting a school of instruction for police officers at Anaheim, will deliver a talk on police and criminal methods.

A large number of prominent Santa Ana and Orange county politicians, candidates and business men have been invited to the meeting, Zabel said.

Stage and Screen

Rin-Tin-Tin and his mate in a scene from "The Clash of the Wolves," picture now showing at the West Coast-Walker theater.

The Gregg Sisters, one of the most pleasing acts on the current vaudeville program at the Yost Broadway theater.

WEST COAST-WALKER
"Sea Horses," the picture which opened at the Yost Broadway last night, proved to be all that had been claimed for it—a stirring and colorful melodrama, with a choice assortment of spectacular features. A first-night audience yesterday was often thrilled, constantly interested and frequently amazed during the projection of the film.

The early scenes are laid on a big ocean freighter, and Dwan has managed to recreate very vividly the coarse, crude life of those who go down to the sea in ships. A realistic fist fight and a wild storm at sea add to the general excitement. The rest of the action takes place in an isolated port on the East African coast, where the principal characters come into open and bitter conflict, and where the plot reaches a crashing climax at the height of a terrific tornado, accompanied by a blinding tropical rainstorm.

Acting honors are pretty evenly divided, for all of the players do excellent work. Florence Vidor, as the lovely English girl, who braves passage on the freighter in order to join her husband in Africa, plays her part with a simplicity, sincerity and natural charm that makes her performance a memorable one. Jack Holt achieves further laurels with his portrayal of the two-fisted sea captain. George Bancroft rises to dramatic heights with his characterization of the burly, brutal mate, who redeems himself in the end; and William Powell gives a very convincing account of himself as the romantic husband who degenerates into a drunken beach-comber.

YOST THEATER
Michael Arlen, famous author of "The Green Hat" and "These Charming People," has reached the screen at last. The new picture, "The Dancer of Paris," which was shown for the first time at the Yost last night, represents his initial screening.

Those who number Arlen among their favorites, of which the present writer is one, will be interested and pleased to know that, unlike so many pictures "adapted" from the works of famous authors, "The Dancer of Paris" actually represents Arlen in the moments of his initial screening.

NOTED MAESTRO
Registers at INN

Prominent among the arrivals at St. Ann's Inn is Prof. Joseph Greven, a noted teacher of operatic art, registering from San Francisco. Accompanied by Mrs. Greven, the maestro came down from the Bay City to put the finishing touches to a new text book on singing and public speaking.

Greven was born in Cologne, Germany, where his father conducted a large private library in which works on philosophy and art formed a conspicuous part. He began his musical studies in Cologne, afterwards graduating from the Conservatory of Vienna. Leaving the Austrian capital, he went to Milan, Italy, where he studied under famous teachers.

With the exception of periods spent in various capitals of Europe, Greven has lived most of his time in San Francisco, where, for a number of years, he conducted the Greven opera school. When the war broke out in 1914, he conducted the Coburg opera school, Coburg, Germany.

He and Mrs. Greven expect to remain here for a week, following which they will return to the northern city.

SIRE'S LOVE FOR SONS SPURNED, WILL INDICATES

erty at 1028 East Fourth street.

Frawley's first wife, Lizzie Frawley, died, in 1902 at Pittsfield, Mass. The Frawleys had separated and Mrs. Frawley had their two sons, John and Arthur. Frawley was then in California and did not learn of his wife's death until two years later, the will states.

Then he made overtures to secure possession of his sons. But their mother's family had them and refused to give them up. Frawley was in very poor health and had no financial resources, so was unable then to go east and make a fight in court for his children, it is stated. But his heart grieved for them and he planned to sometime take them with him.

Refuse His Affection
The opportunity came in 1915 when he succeeded in having them come to visit him at the San Francisco exposition. He had paid their fares to the coast, and they remained three months with him. This, he thought, would be his opportunity to win their love.

But he found them unalterably prejudiced against him. More, he discovered that they were snobbish and haughty, he stated, and his heart was sick with disappointment. They told him of letters received from him. Letters that showed them a father indifferent to them. Letters that he had never written! These and other asserted forgeries made up what Frawley conceived to be a black plot by his wife's relatives to turn his boys against him. He tried to tell his sons that he was innocent but they refused to believe him. Disheartened and hopeless, he finally let them go back to their eastern home.

Widow Receives Residence
The will sets forth this narrative as an explanation for his action in limiting their inheritance. He leaves residence property at 601 East Fourth street to his widow, Edna Frawley. Other property in Santa Ana and property at Seal Beach is willed to the brother, Simon Frawley. Three sisters are bequeathed $100 each and another brother, P. F. Frawley, was willed $300. The petition to probate the will was filed by H. C. Head, Santa Ana attorney.

WHAT OCCURRED IN LONDON ON JULY 4, 1776?

to ads, among them one announcing that Samuel Foote, the great actor and dramatist, would appear at the Haymarket theater in "The Maid of Bath".

Money Was Cheap

There were notices about auctions and sales. Money lenders offered their gold at five per cent.

Newspapers in the London of 1776 had only four small pages and cost three pence. They had no pictures and no screaming headlines such as are found in the modern press.

Cables and radio were not dreamed of in those days and all the London papers' foreign news was obtained from letters or talks with passengers who came in on the slow sailing vessels.

So it was not until 43 days after the Declaration of Independence or on August 16 that London heard the declaration.

All it meant was that the rebels were more rebellious. They could not foresee that its principles would be echoed later in the French revolution and that it was really the beginning of the birth of democracy in the world and the downfall of kings and tyrants.

All the Londoners saw it was a prolongation of a troublesome flight.

Meant More Taxes

It means more taxes. It meant more interference with the free running of sailing vessels bringing food and supplies to England. There was not much war news, although the Boston tea party had occurred in 1773 and the Battle of Lexington on April 19, 1775.

Holland had issued an order forbidding any Dutch ships carrying arms or ammunition to America.

On July 5 The Advertiser said General Howe was to take Long Island and afterward make a vigorous attack upon New York. Or else, he might move against Providence in Rhode Island.

And now comes an amazing thing. "The Public Advertiser" probably was a Whig newspaper and many of the great Whig leaders had been against drastic measures which drove the colonists into rebellion. On July 6 the editor boldly printed this:

"To the Printer of the Public Advertiser:

"I have observed two articles of news in your paper this morning, one of which informs me that General Howe's expedition is destined against New York. And the other article tells us that it is intended against Providence. Now, Mr. Printer, I am apt to think there is more truth in the last paragraph than the paragraph-maker is aware of; and that the said expedition is really and truly against Providence. Indeed, I think it has evidently appeared from the fate of all our expeditions in the course of this unnatural contest that Providence is on the other side."

"I am, sir, one who glories in the name of American."

On July 9 the editor printed the latest advices, saying that thousands of colonials opposed the actions of their congress and were anxious to take up arms for the Mother Country. But in the same number he said that if the world were divided into 300 parts, it would be:

Europe 27, Asia 101, Africa 82, and America 90. Europe was not one-third of America and Great Britain not one-thirtieth of Europe. Great Britain was not one-fiftieth the extent of British-American and this, and America's great and increasing population, are proofs "of our utter inability to subject America."

News by Letter

More American news favorable to America was printed on July 12. Boston was strongly fortified and garrisoned by 1,600 continental troopers and outside there were 10,000 minute men. "They are a body of fine fellows and actual service has made them good soldiers."

By some private letters just received, the paper learned that "some gentlemen of property have raised and marched a considerable body of men to join General Washington at Cambridge, so that the accounts saying all New York declared for the government are untrue."

The editor did not like the king's employing German mercenary soldiers any more than our patriots did. He printed a news item saying that in Plymouth Sound there lay a fleet of 60 vessels to carry 4,500 Hessians, 1,000 Waldecker and some English troops, besides 2,000 baggage horses. When the Hessians were told the colonies were well populated, they replied:

Bobadil will not arrive till the frost sets in."

On July 22 it was announced 51,888 troops had been sent to America. And on August 5 the sharp editor printed this:

"A very extraordinary anxiety about the next intelligences from the army in America is discovered at St. James' and, though every person who approaches the king clearly sees and foretells the overthrow of the rebels, yet an uncommon uneasiness is very manifest in some countenances at court."

The editor's "hunch" was justified. On August 16, in the last column on the first page, without comment, he printed in full the Declaration of Independence. But he had still more bad news and he printed it. He deduced from the fact that General Clinton had joined General Howe at Long Island, that the former had failed to take Charlestown, S. C.

In truth, the editor said, Clinton had met a severe repulse both on land and sea. He gave news of American privates attacking British sloops and said there wasn't a ship in the home dockyards, all the vessels being used in the fight against the Colonies. And then this grave item:

"There is the greatest reason to believe that the dispatches brought by Colonel Blunt contain much more than has been made public; it is well known the colonel was many hours with Lord George Germaine at Kew and was afterward sent to the palace, where he was more than one hour and a half in private with the king."

"The General Evening Post" of the same day also has the Declaration. It also told how the headquarters of Washington were lately removed from the city hall in New York because of the discovery of a plot to seize him and deliver him to Governor Tryon.

A drummer, who had deserted the American forces, was hanged, although he had been offered mercy if he would disclose the other persons in the plot, according to the paper.

Bold Editorial

There follows an analysis of Europe and then a slant at English use of mercenaries:

"Hessian and Brunswick princes, true to the principles of German humanity, sell their subjects to be the cut-throats of the American planters, for mere friendship to a prince, against whom they would let out other armies to any other power."

He winds up with this striking paragraph:

"The European prospect is terrible—it is the declension of every noble principle of freedom. These rear the head beyond the Atlantic: America, destined to chains, will become the parent of liberty—rear up the generous plant, and let it have, in some regions at least, that existence it is denied in others."

Finally "The Public Advertiser" had, on August 21, what is practically an editorial on the declaration and a very bold one:

"Nothing can be a greater proof of the resources and courage of the Americans than reserving their Declaration of Independence until General Howe had arrived with the whole force against them."

"If they had not the means of defense or were not determined to fight (as their enemies give out) they would have thrown down their arms and flocked to the royal standard but so far from this, it is only now they seem to have adopted a principle of resistance which should therefore hold out a very serious (though late reflection) to our ministry, that they have hitherto been uniformly wrong in their opinion of, and measures against, that country."

phoid vaccine; smallpox will not find a victim among those who have been successfully vaccinated within the last few years, while, most recent of all, a preventive treatment against scarlet fever is now available, Dr. Presson claims.

It being the business of the health officer to maintain public health in his district, it follows that it is his duty to see that the people know about these methods of preventing disease, and to urge parents to see that their children are thus protected against these diseases.

Water and Milk Purity

The purity of the water and the milk supply of the community are matters to which the health officer must give careful attention. And he is also required to enforce all sanitary laws relating to the handling of food in all public eating places, including hot-dog stands and refreshment places along the highways. The condition of meat trucks and bakeries is a matter of concern to his office, as are pools of stagnant water and public swimming pools.

BEFORE HER BABY CAME

Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adkins, Texas.—"Before my baby came I was so weak I had to stay in bed most of the time until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother-in-law, who is a midwife, told me it was all foolishness for me to stay in bed. She told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it would help me. She handed me one of your little books and I read it and was interested in it. I went to a drug store that night and got a bottle of your wonderful medicine. I took it until the baby was born and was able to be up and do my work. Baby is 4½ months old now and weighs 14 pounds. I have plenty of milk for her and she gains steadily. I recommend it. I am willing to answer letters and will do anything I can for any woman I know how I suffered."—Mrs. A. H. Tschirhart, R. No. 2, Box 33, Adkins, Texas.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use by women for over fifty years. It is a vegetable tonic made from roots and herbs and is sold by all druggists.

Fascinating Beauty

One's face should make one
—NOT betray one!

UNDERNEATH the stains left by sun and wind, underneath the blemishes of unslightly tan and muddiness, your face is a picture of health and beauty. Perhaps you don't know that you can restore that lovely pallor and the satiny texture which used to be your pride! El Estado Lemon Creme is the cream which gently exfoliates, softening blemishes and leaves the skin transparently clear and smooth. The fragrant Lemon Oil in this creme does for your face what the hand lotion does for your hands. Whiten and refresh. Remember! El Estado Lemon Creme is real lemon oil—NEVER a drop of those dangerous acids, to dry and pucker the skin, nor noxious chemicals to worsen the delicate texture. Massaged gently into the skin, with careful upward strokes, then wiped off with a soft cloth, this wonderful creme will beautify your face of those blemishes, your large pores, and wavy lines. If left on all night, after first being used to cleanse the face thoroughly, it will reveal a youthful freshness and beauty you never knew you had. It is featured in dollar jars at most toilet goods counters, but if you wish to try it before you buy it, we will gladly mail you a free sample. *** El Estado Products Co., Seattle, Washington.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO RAISE VETS' PENSIONS

WASHINGTON, July 2.—A senate bill providing increases of pensions to Civil and Mexican war veterans and dependents, at an estimated cost to the government of $15,000,000 annually, was passed yesterday by the house without a record vote. The measure now goes to the president.

Under the bill, it is estimated 53,000 Civil war veterans, now getting $50 a month, will receive $65. Veterans receiving $72 a month will get $90 if totally disabled or blind, and it is estimated 20 per cent of the 56,000 men now on a $72 basis will be eligible for the increase.

The pensions of 26,000 widows of Civil war veterans would be increased from $30 to $50 a month, while Civil war nurses would receive $50 a month.

About 1100 widows of veterans of the War of 1812 and the Mexican war would be eligible for an increase from $30 to $50 a month.

The Man Who Knew and What Came of It

We know a man with an automobile who said he was a careful driver.

And He Was!

He said he would never injure any one.

And He Didn't!

He said if anything happened it would be the other fellow's fault.

And It Was!

However, that didn't prevent the other fellow from demanding damages.

And He Did!

Our friend said it was not his fault and that he would not pay anything.

And He Didn't!

The other chap said: "I'LL SUE YOU!"

And He Did!

Our friend's lawyer said: "WE CAN BEAT HIM IN COURT!"

And They Did!

Whereupon our friend said: "HAI! HAI! I WIN!"

And Then

Our friend paid his lawyer a fee of $100 plus expenses.

Foolish, Wasn't He?

There was a much cheaper way out and we had told him about it, but he would not listen.

Why Have This Trouble?

Let us tell you how little it will cost for complete protection.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Here is answer to yesterday's cross-word puzzle.

MODISTES DICTATE TO THEIR PATRONS

LONDON, July 2—Three of the most influential and exclusive Mayfair modistes and milliners have caused a sensation in London by informing their clients that models designed to be worn at any particular event must not be worn before that occasion.

The climax came when a young American visitor, Miss Paula Havens, of Philadelphia, wore to a largely attended charity matinee a striking hat which had been designed for the Ascot race meeting.

Two days later she received from her Hanover Square milliner a polite, but pointed note, to the effect that while she could, of course, wear her own hats when she liked, it was understood that hats designed for events like Ascot were not used or revealed before the event.

A delicate question thus arises as to how much might a milliner or modiste has in one of their creations after it has passed from their hands.

The milliners, on their side, say that if Ascot models were worn indiscriminately a week or two before they were intended, all the their months of secrecy and care would be wasted.

They complain, for instance, that Miss Havens' hat, which was the cause of all the trouble, was copied dozens of times before the Ascot meet. On the other hand, the best-dressed women of Mayfair declare that only in exceptional circumstances would a woman willingly wear an Ascot hat before its time, thereby safeguarding themselves regardless of the autocratic ruling of the milliners.

NEW YORK, July 2—Plot to swindle George De Forest Barton, 85, Lieutenant commander in the United States navy in the Civil war, of $300,000, his entire fortune, charged, was revealed with the arrest of Thomas Cochrane, 38, of 299 Madison avenue, by Lt. August Mayer.

Cochrane, a broker, was specifically charged by police with acting in concert with Kent Morgan, alias Joseph Patrick Moore, a fugitive from justice, in illegally disposing of $9000 in securities belonging to Barton.

An additional charge of forgery was issued against Morgan, alias More, who police charge fabricated Barton's signature to a check for $8400. The check, deposited in the West End Trust company, of Philadelphia, has been drawn against for $2100, police charge.

A week ago, police charge, Morgan, alias Moore, induced Barton to give him power of attorney. Morgan, police charge, then went to the New York Safe Deposit company and tried to obtain possession of Barton's entire account, amounting to more than $200,000.

Officials of the safe deposit company notified the authorities.

FORM REVERSALS
Form reversals are frequent in all forms of sport. When they occur, past performances count for nothing.

Form has been shot to pieces this year in both leagues.

Any critic at the opening of the season with the temerity to suggest that the New York Yankees would be 10 games in front at the half-way mark, would have been adjudged the "prize nut" of the year.

Yet that is just where the Yanks are.

If some expert had made the prediction that the Giants would be trailing in the second division with the race half over, he would have been placed in the same class.

Yet that is just where the Giants are.

MCGRAW'S TEAM
When I looked the teams over in the spring, the New York Giants looked like the class of the National league, the Pittsburgh Pirates excepted.

It was much the same team that had won four straight pennants for McGraw, with far better reserve strength. Incidentally, it seemed as if Manager McGraw was certain to get much better pitching.

When I talked with the leader of the Giants he stressed that fact. I am sure he felt that he had a great chance to win.

Don't get the impression that the Giants are out of it. The team is only a few games out of first place and coming fast.

However, in the early stages of the race the pitching failed the club and pennant hopes were badly shaken.

The world champions, Pittsburgh, had a somewhat similar experience, but the Pirates rallied more quickly and strongly after taking a number of wallops on the chin.

THRILLING RACE
The early season setbacks encountered by Pittsburgh and New York have done much to provide the National league with a thrilling race.

In like manner, the sensational winning streaks of the Cincinnati Reds and the unexpected strength shown by the Chicago Cubs have also helped to "jazz up" the situation.

With the teams at the half-way mark, six clubs in the National league still have a chance. Only Boston and Philadelphia appear to be out of it at this writing.

And, strangely enough, during the spring training games in the south the Boston Braves provided all the fireworks. Bancroft's club

Diamond Disputes Decided.
By BILLY EVANS

Is it necessary that a baserunner be retired be touched with the naked ball by the fielder making the play?

This query is put to me scores of times each season. The rather indefinite wording of the rule is responsible for the many disputes arising. It says:

The baserunner is out if at any time while the ball is in play he is touched by the ball in the hands of the fielder, unless some part of his person be touching the base to which he is entitled.

The phrase, "touched by the ball," is a technicality used to argue that the runner actually be touched with the ball.

It is often difficult enough to determine if a player has been touched with the hand holding the ball and next to impossible to always know whether or not the ball actually came into contact with the player.

Umpires therefore give the fielder the benefit of the doubt and rule the runner out if the hand holding the ball touches the runner.

In the main, Mike kept a safe distance from the Clevelander and managed to take most of the swings tossed at him on his glove.

With all of the fists which were flying in the ten rounds, not one landed hard enough to really affect either boxer. Both came out of the match without a mark to show for the evening's work.

With victory in sight, Mike took it easy in the last two rounds and was content to outbox Johnny. He had Risko swinging wild most of the time.

The referee was Jack Dorman, with Tommy Shortell and George Kelly were the judges. Risko weighed 185 pounds against McGigue's 170.

M'TIGUE WINS HANDILY FROM JOHNNY RISKO

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 2—Youth is yet to be served in the instance of Johnny Risko and Mike McGigue.

McTigue, the one time light heavyweight champion of the world, took a ten round decision from the slugging, slamming Cleveland youngster last night.

The Irish boxer was successful because he refused to match punches with Risko, who was always boring in, slashing away with his left hand. While the tactics of the former champion did not make the bout much of a spectacle as far as the small house was concerned, it served to check the downward trend of the career which flamed with a questionable victory over Battling Siki.

JOHNSON BEATS SOUTHPAW ACE IN SLAB DUEL

Defeat Knocks Fountainmen From Top Place in City Indoor Baseball League

After rolling up the most impressive record of victories in the history of indoor baseball here, Jimmy Mansfield, diminutive southpaw pitching ace for the Lee Fountain team of the Santa Ana City league, went to the well the "too oftenest" time at Lincoln park last night and suffered his first reversal of the season at the hands of the fighting Fluor Constructors. The score was 3 to 0.

Lloyd Johnson, peer of all sub-mariners in Southern California last year, stole most of Mansfield's thunder. Johnson has had his troubles in the local league but he was "right" last night and there was no denying him his victory. He fanned 12, walked only two and allowed only three safe hits. Only five men got as far as first base and but one Fountainer reached third. Johnson also was given a night support by his determined teammates.

The unexpected humiliation of the great little Mansfield changed considerably the aspect of the pennant race. It lowered the colors of the Lee's Fountain from first place and dropped them to third, leaving the Ternan Typewriter company and the F. C. Blauer group still tied for the leadership.

Mansfield pitched a fine game himself. It was a tough one for him to lose. He was nicked for only five safeties but it was his misfortune to have four of them bunched in two innings, the frames that the Fluors had all their scoring. The southpaw lacked his usual fine control also for he passed four batters and was charged with one wild pitch that gave his opponents a tally.

The Constructors scored their first counter in the first inning. Rasmussen drew a walk, went to second and third while Mansfield was retiring Price on strikes, stole third and scored on Homier's single. Leichtfuss also hit safely but Dierker was thrown out at first.

Both the other Fluor runs were made in the last of the eighth after two were away. Rasmussen doubled and scored when Angell misjudged Price's swat to center and let it go for another two-bagger. Mansfield thereupon grew wild and wild-pitched Price home before walking Johnson. Homier was an infield out.

Under the name of the Mercantile A. C. a new boxing club has been organized in St. Louis to conduct professional glove contests at the local major league baseball park.

Kinsey was at his best in the first set. He held off his opponent's

Demskie and Hall Box at Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, July 2—Paul Demskie, who hails from the antipodes, will meet Roscoe Hall, the Iowa school teacher, in a 10 round bout at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tonight.

Demskie is fighting his first main event in Southern California and he will probably have a lot of trouble with Hall. Hall has been bowing over his opponents here with regularity, so that Demskie will have a good standing if he wins tonight.

Sometime this afternoon the bout carrying the new British open golf champion will arrive at quarantine and from then until Bobby leaves next week for the American Open at Columbus he will be feted by admiring homefolk from Atlanta and proud citizens of New York.

Winning the first ball game in any series is the edge. It puts the opposition on the defense.

That is all very well if form holds good and your best bet comes through. If he fails, it is different. You have used your ace and lost. That removes the big threat and adds to the confidence of the rival club.

All season Grove has pitched sensational ball for the Athletics, yet his pitching percentage would never convey that impression to the fan who had only the figures to guide him.

Deserved Many Victories

Grove has done little better than break even yet, with the possible exception of, say, two ball games, every one of his pitching efforts was deserving of victory.

Since the opening of the season Grove has been used as the starting pitcher in practically every series. When the opposing team beat Grove which it did quite often, it breathed a sigh of relief, figuring him out of the way for the rest of the series.

The tough breaks suffered by Grove on the club's recent road trip caused Manager Mack to drop

MACK SCHEMES TO BEAT GROVE'S JINX

side a shift in plans was necessary to remove the jinx.

In three games, against Boston, Chicago and Cleveland, the last one going 11 innings, Grove allowed a total of only four runs, yet suffered three defeats.

Mack Changes Program

That was too much for the usually complacent Mr. Mack.

A change of program was decided upon. Instead of starting a series, Grove was named as the selection for the third or fourth game.

In addition to keeping the big threat in the background, it enabled Manager Mack to use him late in the first two games to hold a slight lead.

Grove, who has a free, easy motion, doesn't think anything of working a couple of innings as a pinch pitcher.

As a matter of fact, it is not at all unusual for him to warm up a bit each day. Certain pitchers rest a day or two after taking their regular turn, but Grove is not that sort.

Strong and willing, this feature of his makeup will permit his use in pinch roles without in any way hurting his work in his regular start.

Billy Evans Says

If Cincinnati played anywhere as good on the road as at home that club would now be enjoying a comfortable lead. On the home lot the Reds have been practically invincible.

ANENT YANKEES

While two clubs, the Pirates and the Giants, stood out in the National league, making it appear as if the race would be a decided affair, just the reverse proved true.

On the other hand, the American league, which appeared to have no outstanding clubs, and four or five of nearly equal strength, has seen a runaway race for the Yankees so far.

For several weeks the Yankees have been from 20 to 25 games better than the .500 mark. It is a rather interesting fact that the margin now held by the club can be traced to two winning streaks.

On one occasion the Yankees won eight straight before being stopped while the next winning streak didn't end until 18 victories had been recorded.

Those two winning streaks, totaling 24 games, are responsible for the lead now held by the New York club. The rest of the time it has merely played .500 ball.

AVERAGE BALL

A margin of, say, 20 games better than the .500 mark with the race half over, makes a ball club feel mighty comfortable.

Pennant figures give up the information that a club winning 90 or more ball games is in line for the championship.

All the Yankees need to do from now until the close of the season to reach that mark is to split even on the rest of the schedule.

A brand of .500 baseball will assure the club that figure. And, unless the Yankees should suffer some terrible calamity it is very reasonable to suppose they will turn the trick.

Generally considered the greatest outfielder in the history of the game, Speaker has never been far behind as a batter.

A left-handed batsman, Speaker has always been able to hit either kind of pitching with equal ease. This spring he slumped at the bat and has been having his troubles getting out of it.

If at the opening of the season, some one had suggested that before the race was one-third over Manager Speaker would be sending in a substitute batter for Outfielder Speaker, the idea would have been ridiculed. Yet it so happened that Manager Speaker did that very thing.

In the final inning of the game with the Yankees, June 6, with a run needed to tie and a man on second, George Uhle, hard hitting pitcher, was sent in to bat for Speaker.

It was the first time in his long career as a major leaguer that a pinch-hitter swung for the great Tristam.

Speaker put personal pride aside for the hope of victory.

BLAME PLACED FOR MISUSE OF SENATE FRANK

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Responsibility for misuse of a senatorial mail frank in the Brookhart-Cummins senatorial campaign in Iowa has been placed by the post office of Frank Lund, Senator Brookhart's campaign manager.

The department disclosed that it had evidence that campaign circulars were inserted by the clerk in about 150 envelopes bearing the frank of Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, and containing a speech by Senator Reed, and thus were distributed free of postage to Iowa voters.

The disclosure was made in a letter sent by the department to Senator Reed and read in the Senate. Department officials had interested themselves in the case after a charge of misuse of the frank for distribution of partisan campaign material had provided one of the high points of controversy in the closing days of the preparatory battle between Brookhart and Senator Cummins.

THIRD FULLERTON OFFICER RESIGNS

FULLERTON, July 2.—The "house-cleaning" instituted in the Fullerton police department recently under instructions from the city council was thought to have been completed today, when the resignation of Traffic Officer Douglas Chambers was accepted by Chief T. K. Winter.

Chambers is the third member of the local department to turn in his star since Chief Winter announced his reorganization program. J. H. Deist and Joe Clever were first to resign.

Louis Heffner, of Anaheim, former state traffic officer, and John H. Trezise, a resident of Fullerton and former employee of the Consolidated Ice and Cold Storage company, this city, have been appointed by Chief Winter to fill two of the vacancies left on the force.

Sergeant Harry Green is the only member of the force to remain following the "clean-up."

The new officers have already assumed their new duties. The "house-cleaning" program was adopted following the filing of charges in which Chief Winter and various officers were accused of taking sacramental wine from the jail. Winter was vindicated of the charges but was ordered to effect an entire reorganization of his department.

District Deputy Rebekah's Guest

Mrs. Florence Crawford, of Tustin, district deputy president of the Rebekahs, was honor guest Saturday evening, at the I. O. O. F. hall, at a reception given by the local lodge.

After the business meeting, addresses were given by Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Amelia Prather and Mrs. Fannie Lacy. Mrs. Bruce Nelson sang several solos, accompanied by Miss Mildred Aiken. Mrs. Henry also sang. Mrs. Inez Baker and Master George Curtis gave readings and Thomas Taylor Crawford, violinist, played.

Following refreshments, Mrs. Crawford was presented with several bouquets of flowers by various members of the local lodges.

Attend Event In Valley of Moon

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ashford, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gritton, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Penn, F. D. Studley and Charles Mattern were among those who represented Santa Ana at the Masonic playground, Valley of the Moon, Saturday night, when San Bernardino Royal Arch Masons conferred the Royal Arch degree on candidates from nearly every chapter in Southern California. Following the work, which was put on in a setting as nearly resembling that of the original setting in the days of King Solomon as was possible, dinner was served at the clubhouse. In the evening, a dance was enjoyed.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 2.—Sunday evening, a party of local people attended the Charles Wakefield Cadman concert at the Hollywood bowl. Leaving here in the afternoon, the group enjoyed a picnic supper in the picnic grounds at the bowl. Those who were in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gifford and daughter Hazel; Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Halliday, Mr. and Mrs. John Malcom, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook and Mrs. Carl Hankey.

H. Raymond Henry, of the old Adobe studio, motored to Los Angeles Tuesday. He returned Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Newman who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Rudolph Yorba, returned Monday to her home in San Francisco.

Master Hays who has been attending school in Los Angeles, is spending the summer vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Douglas Hays. He intends to attend school here next year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Nealand, of Hollywood, are spending a few days at their walnut ranch here.

Master Harvey Henry returned Thursday from a visit with his aunt, Mrs. Carlson, in Los Angeles. Judge and Mrs. R. Y. Williams returned Wednesday from a vacation trip.

Miss Marjory Callis spent Wednesday with Miss Charlotte Fine in Santa Ana.

Anthony Joyce and son, Coleman, have been in Los Angeles for several days.

Fred Ross, of Santa Ana, was in Capistrano Wednesday.

SANTA ANA FRATERNAL AND PATRIOTIC ORDERS

K. P. SUNRISE CEREMONIAL IS SET FOR JULY 5

Star Chapters Picnic at Park

For the first time, all Eastern Star chapters in Orange county held a joint picnic at Orange County park, Wednesday night. Members were present from Hermosa, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach, Amalia, Orange, Yorba Linda and Buena Park chapters.

Silver Cord Lodge, F. and A. M., of Santa Ana, also was holding a picnic at the park and members of that lodge helped in insuring that each of the 1,000 present had a good time. In the evening, dancing was enjoyed.

S. A. LODGE IS TO ENTERTAIN VISITING ELKS

Santa Ana Lodge, B. P. O. E., will host tonight to officers from San Diego, San Pedro and Anaheim lodges, who will come to Santa Ana to compete for the Southern California South, championship in the putting on of the ritualistic work.

This will be the final elimination contest before the contest at Los Angeles will be picked from the different lodges of district No. 31.

As much as the ceremonies are to start at 4:30 a. m., it is the expectation of those in charge that the entire affair will be completed by 7 or 8 a. m., so that there will be no interference with plans members may have for spending the morning at other places.

Hot breakfast will be served free of charge to all in attendance.

Plans have been made to provide diversion for the wives of knights and their families while the ceremonial is in progress. The women and children will be invited to eat with the knights.

Transportation will be provided by members to the Santa Ana Lodge for all Pythians who desire to make the trip, but do not have means of travel.

Knights wishing to be taken to Brea should gather at the castle hall on East Fourth street at 4 o'clock, it is asserted. The trip to Brea by automobile requires at least half an hour.

Santa Ana Lodge has achieved a reputation in Southern California Pythian circles for being an organization of active workers and it is the hope of the lodge officers that this reputation will be further enhanced by the attendance at the Brea sunrise ceremonial.

Bright to Speak At Masonic Meet

Charles V. Doty, worshipful master of Santa Ana Lodge No. 241, F. & A. M., announced that Reynold Blight, of the Masonic educational committee of the grand lodge, Los Angeles, will be speaker tonight at the stated meeting of the lodge.

Blight has been speaking over radio KKH on Sunday afternoon using Masonry as the subject for his talks.

On Friday, July 23, work in the third degree will be put on. The Pacific Electric Masonic team will assist the local team in giving the third degree to candidate instructed in the corps.

CUBA BOYCOTT FILMS

HAVANA, July 2.—The exhibitors' association has declared a boycott against seven leading film distributors handling American films.

On Friday, July 23, work in the third degree will be put on. The Pacific Electric Masonic team will assist the local team in giving the third degree to candidate instructed in the corps.

Now day lunch at Givens-Cannan Pharmacy, 4th St. at Ross.

DE MOLAY PUTS 13 CANDIDATES THROUGH MILL

Thirteen new members were admitted, with fitting ceremonies, into the Santa Ana chapter of DeMolay, at the special meeting last Saturday night, in Masonic temple.

The class was the largest that has been received by the order in the last two years, according to Virgil Reed, master councilor, who was in charge of the initiation.

Candidates included Howard Thompson, Gerald Edwards, Charles Winters, Charles Ethorn, Norman McClay, Raymond Dixon, Richard Bradley, Glover Hendrickson, Howard Law, Weston Jay, Irving Singer, John Casey and Charles Hadden.

After the chapter was opened, preparations were made for conferring the initiatory and DeMolay degrees. The new members were impressed with the ideals of the DeMolay order. Following the initiation, the chapter was closed and the "third degree" put on.

As one of the stunts, the "victims" pledged something over $100 for the benefit of a mythical poor woman by means of an electric chair.

The 13 unlucky youths were sent through other means of initiation, with the use of some of the Scots' paraphernalia. The evening's events began with a banquet, at which the new members were guests.

Following the installation, refreshments were served in the banquet room.

Outing Is Planned
By Jubilee Lodge

Carl C. Cowles, master of Jubilee Lodge, No. 604, F. & A. M., has announced that the lodge will hold a steak bake and informal social gathering for members and their families in Orange County park, Friday evening, July 9, at 6:30 o'clock. Harry Garstang, chairman of the entertainment committee, will have charge of the program and promises the members an enjoyable evening. Part of the evening will be devoted to dancing.

FACTS ARE GIVEN
ON WHITE SHRINE

Mrs. Marianne Müller, worthy high priestess of Damascus shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, who recently returned from the convention, said that the question of the early history of the lodge had been brought up at the convention, with the result that many interesting facts had been brought out.

The first attempts in organization of the order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, according to Mrs. Müller, were made in Cook county, Ill., as early as 1884. Michigan felt the need of such an order and organized one, May 28, 1897. Each organization carried on under its respective jurisdiction, in various states in the United States, each professing the same general principles and purposes.

"A desire developed among the members of each of these supreme shrines for their union, the culmination of which took place on Oct. 9, 1908, under charter of the Supreme Shrine of the Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem," said Mrs. Müller.

The theory of the order is founded on the birth of Christ. Its teachings are scriptural and impress one of the humble, but glorious birth of Christ. The order inspires its members to do noble deeds, make the world better and brighter to him or her, who in the hour of sorrow and affliction sees nothing but darkness.

The membership is limited to those who believe in the Christian religion. The White Shrine of Jerusalem is not a part of Masonry, nor does it claim to be a part of higher or additional degrees of the Order of Eastern Star, but its membership is restricted to members of the Eastern Star in good standing.

The local shrine, Damascus, No. 13, was organized March 29, 1924, and having been chartered under date of May 6, was instituted June 14, 1924. Fifty-seven names appeared on the first membership list and to date the membership totals 138."

BIG CEREMONIAL HELD BY SCOTS

Forty Santa Ana Scots attended the Scot ceremonial, held in Pasadena Monday evening. Among those initiated were H. M. Penn, Oscar Dearborn Jr., Oscar Dearborn Jr., Mr. Metzger of Huntington Beach; F. D. Stanley, Joe Skidmore, Ralph Barker, I. L. Voda and P. E. Lonon. A parade was held, Scot bands from Los Angeles, Long Beach, Pasadena, Glendale and San Bernardino taking part. A special feature was the Scotch kilts band from Los Angeles. Drill teams were present from Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Long Beach. The Long Beach chanters were in the parade and sang a number of songs.

A unique feature of the ceremonial was that the toparchs from each pyramid present put on the work.

Following the ceremonial, six acts of vaudeville were given for the Scots in a Pasadena theater.

Pyramids represented at the ceremonial were those from Long Beach, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Fullerton, Santa Ana, Ventura, San Bernardino and Glendale.

Steak Bake Held By Brotherhood

The Fraternal Brotherhood held a steak bake at Orange County park, Friday evening, when 125 members were present. Following the supper, the evening was spent in dancing. Dysart's orchestra provided the music. It was announced that all Fraternal Brotherhoods in Southern California will meet at Orange County park for a picnic on August 15.

Finer Flavor because "Ripened Naturally"

You will be delighted with the finer flavor and delicious tenderness for which Cudahy's Puritan Ham is so distinguished.

These finer qualities are the result of the special Cudahy process of "ripening naturally." This method slowly and naturally diffuses the rich meat juices without forcing or

Good Meat Healthy

Dr. Frank McCoy is without doubt the most noted Dietitian in America and at one time advocated a vegetable diet only. His great meat research has changed his opinion and he is now most enthusiastically recommending to his patients the eating of good meats, especially Steer Beef.

There are seven grades of beef—Baby Beef, Fancy Beef, No. 2 Steer, No. 3 Steer, Fancy Cow Beef, No. 2 Cow Beef and Canners. 85 to 90 per cent of all the beef sold on the Pacific Coast is No. 2 Steer Beef and Baby Beef, being a balance of 10 to 15 per cent of the Baby and Fancy Steer Beef. These better grades are found only in the larger, high-class markets having buyers who devote their entire attention to the personal selection of the best. There is seldom enough of the better grade meat to supply the demand, which has at the very least 90 per cent more food value than Cow Beef or the cheaper grades of Steer Beef.

LA HABRA TO VOTE ON SEWER BONDS JULY 20

LA HABRA, July 2.—An election will be held in the La Habra sanitary district on July 20 for the purpose of voting on a $50,000 bond issue for the completion of the La Habra sewer system, and paying La Habra's share in the cost of extending the outfall sewer into the ocean, in accordance with order issued by the state board of health.

The election was ordered at a meeting of the directors of the sanitary district this week. It is primarily necessary at this time on account of the proposed extension of the outfall into the ocean, which was ordered by the state board of health as a result of complaints from property owners in the vicinity of the outlet that the waters of the ocean were being contaminated.

All the cities and sanitary districts using the outfall will share in this expense.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY TO CONSTRUCT $17,000 BOOSTER PLANT AT H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 2.—Judging from police records, Reginald Denny, prominent moving picture star, and his wife, Mrs. Irene Denny, of 2060 North Vine street, Hollywood, were engaged in a race here yesterday.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Denny are scheduled to appear before City Recorder C. W. Warner July 7 to answer to charges of speeding down Ocean boulevard of this city at a rate of 50 miles an hour. When arrested, Mrs. Denny was close behind her husband in another car, according to Elmer Parker, local motorcycle officer.

In addition to the speeding charge, Mrs. Denny will also face a charge of driving her car without having an operator's license. Denny was able to show his operator's license.

Just what will happen to the couple when they appear before Judge Warner is a source of much speculation. If they were to appear before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison at Santa Ana, they probably would be sentenced to spend five days in the Orange county jail, as it is the custom of the Santa Ana judge to impose jail sentences upon persons who travel 50 miles an hour and are caught.

PERMITS AT H. B. ESTABLISH RECORD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 2.—Building permits for the year were smashed here last month, when permits totaled $31,490. The amount is the largest this year and exceeds the total for the same month, last year, by a large margin. In June, 1925, building permits amounted to only $7,900.

Total building permits during the year amount to $119,280, it was shown at the office of the city building inspector today.

Women Use

Then dispose of this new hygienic help easily as tissue—no laundry

WOMEN by the millions are discarding the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and scientific way.

A way that offers protection unknown before. A way, too, that solves the old embarrassment of disposal.

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in 10 better-class women now employ it. Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

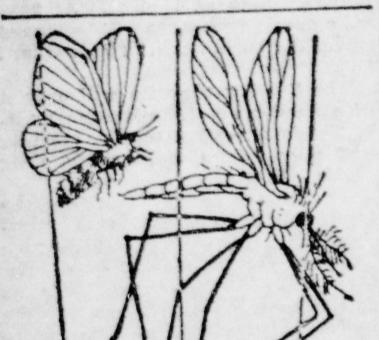

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

Laguna Beach Dog Captures Prizes

LAGUNA BEACH, July 2.—The Doberman Pinscher, Max von Blankenfeld, belonging to W. W. Brown, who is to be the manager of the new Hotel Riviera-Laguna, was the winner in every class at the Los Angeles Kennel club's show at the Hotel Ambassador. Max won the open class for Doberman Pinschers, won the ribbon for the best Doberman Pinscher in the show, took the ribbon for the best of breed, male or female, and won the silver cup for the best Doberman in the show.

Max is a German police dog who has gone through the last eight big kennel shows without losing a point. He was trained in Germany by a famous dog trainer and understands his orders in either German or English.

Week before last in Long Beach, Max won everything in sight and two weeks before that cleaned up all the prizes at San Francisco and San Jose.

NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

LOWER ORANGE WATER RATE IN EFFECT TODAY

Legionnaires Of Orange Discuss State Convention

ORANGE, July 2.—Discussion of the state American Legion convention at Susanville August 17, 18 and 19, occupied the time of the local post at its regular bi-monthly meeting in Legion hall last night. That about 10 of the local members plan to go was discovered in the process of the discussion.

Post Commander Louis Frosterer presented the present commander, C. C. Slater, with a huge key to Susanville, the convention city.

A short entertainment program and refreshments followed the business session.

ORANGE, July 2.—After today, Orange residents will again pay the old rate for water. The water rate ordinance was passed for the final reading a month ago. It provides that 750 cubic feet of water may be used for a charge of $1. All over that up to 3750 cubic feet shall be at the rate of 10 cents per cubic foot. All water used in excess of the latter figure will be charged at the rate of eight cents per cubic foot.

The former board of trustees raised the water rate to forestall an expected water shortage during the summer months. However, the new board considered the supply of water sufficient without raising the rates, so passed the ordinance which resulted in the old rate being resumed.

The rate decided upon by the former board of trustees for the past two months placed the minimum charge at $1.25 for 500 cubic feet, with an additional charge of 12 1/2 cents per cubic foot over and above 500 cubic feet to 3500 cubic feet, and the old rate of eight cents per cubic foot for any water used above the latter figure.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, July 2.—Miss Ruby Gray won in the oratorical contest of the Christian Endeavor at Stockton Monday evening. Miss Gray is from the local Friends church I. C. E. Besides the cup she receives, she is to have 10 days at Mt. Hermon. Miss Edith Culter, county president, and Miss Mabel Abel, of the C. E. at Stockton, the following were among the local people who attended the yearly meeting of the Friends church held in Whittier: Mrs. Doris Gray, Mrs. Pearl Paddock, Mr. and Mrs. George Dillard and two children, P. F. Cull and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stone and two children, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lutz and two children, W. F. Crist, Miss Nellie Crist, Miss Lucile Belton, and Kenyon Moody. In the afternoon, the local juniors put on a program in which 20 little folk took part.

Tuesday afternoon, the Orange county district of the Los Angeles Presbyterians met with Mrs. R. W. Jones for organization. Seven of the Presbyterian churches of the county were represented. Mrs. Jones was chosen president. The following women were present: Mrs. William E. Roberts, Mrs. Blair and Miss Ward, of Santa Ana; Mrs. F. J. Grady, Mrs. Harry Anderson, of Westminster; Mrs. Carrie Ford and Mrs. William Velle, of Placentia; Mrs. T. H. Walker, Mrs. S. N. Gibbs, of Anaheim; Mrs. Carswell and Mrs. T. H. Ebel, of Tustin, and Miss E. F. Scarratt of Orange, an the hostess, Mrs. R. W. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walton, of Los Angeles, visited with the R. W. Jones family the first of the week.

Mr. Walton is a worker with the Anti-Saloon league.

PERMITS FOR JUNE IN ORANGE TOTAL $18,500

ORANGE, July 2.—Building permits for June totaled $18,500 with the $5200 residence permit granted to Frank Paul, 700 West Palmyra avenue, heading the list. Most of the permits taken out during the month were for small additions to homes and stores. The permits for June, 1925, totaled $5400.

Prominent among buildings for which permits have been taken out during the past few months is the new Christian Science church, East Chapman avenue and Cambridge street.

It is expected that within the next few weeks sufficient headway will have been made on the structure to hold services in it.

ORANGE, July 2.—Ray Wallace, 225 East Palmyra avenue, entered his petition for nomination to the office of constable of Orange township Wednesday, according to information from the office of the county clerk. Wallace cites as qualifications for the office a four-year term as a deputy sheriff, from which he recently resigned.

George Bartley, El Modena, is the only other candidate who has filed a petition for the office.

The present constable, A. L. Langford, will not enter the race.

Church Members Enjoy Program

ORANGE, July 2.—Book reviews and a musical program entertained the members of the Woman's Misionary society of the First Christian church at their monthly meeting in the church parlors yesterday afternoon.

Book reviews were given by several members who had read interesting books during the past month. Music consisted principally of piano solos.

ORANGE

ORANGE, July 2.—Mrs. N. V. Misener, who has been ill at the home of her granddaughter in Glendale, returned to her apartment at the Sunshine hotel today. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. D. Dahl, of Chicago.

L. M. Davidson left yesterday for Yakima, Wash., following receipt of message announcing the serious illness of his uncle.

O. B. Eller, president of the Western Cordage company, left this morning on a two weeks trip to Canada.

Mrs. H. O. Eggen, of Hemet, daughter of the late Mac Peters, was a week-end guest of Mrs. A. D. Bishop. Mrs. Eggen came down to attend the pioneer's picnic held at Orange County park Sunday.

Mrs. Louise Dittmer and son, Harold, Mrs. E. Loescher and Mrs. E. Craemer left yesterday morning on a two months' trip to Fort Dodge, Iowa. They will visit with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Lottie Claypool Young with her three children, of Kaycey, Wyo., arrived by stage to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Claypool of Villa Park.

Louis Nesmith, of Florida, will visit for the summer months at the B. T. Nesmith home, North Cambridge street.

Mrs. Walter Loescher and Miss Ruth Loescher were Los Angeles visitors Wednesday evening. They attended the wedding of one of Miss Loescher's sorority sisters.

MAN SAYS GRACE IN RESTAURANT

Parked Gum Worries Porter

SEE-SAWING Up and Down FOURTH STREET

A family of five occupied a table in a Santa Ana restaurant. Their clothing indicated a long automobile trip. They had entered the dining room timidly. Maybe they were from the rural sections. Some might say they were from "the woods."

Nervously they toyed with the silverware. Still more nervously they faced the waitress and gave their orders. They looked about at the other tables to see what spoon and fork were being used by the other diners. They seemed terribly self-conscious. There could be no doubt. They were "woods people."

The soup was served. Then followed a moment's awkward silence. Each looked at the other. The father nodded. Five heads were suddenly lowered. Eyes were closed.

The father solemnly began to speak—

He was "saying grace."

I heard a man who also noticed the incident say it was a custom "he had almost forgotten."

Of all the peculiar jobs to be found in this hodge-podge of humanity, about as odd an occupation as we have encountered is that of the porter at one of the Santa Ana buildings who goes about with a scraper removing wads of gum tossed to the tile floor or stuck underneath the soda fountain by hundreds of thoughtless persons.

Following his trail for a few moments we were astounded at the recklessness with which young women—and young men—abandon their gum in public places. The porter explained his was a hard lot indeed, for if he did not pounce on freshly tossed wads, they soon would be spread hard and fast on the tiling by the feet of customers.

Demonstrating his point, he pointed to hundreds of oval and oblong spots, dotting the floor like some strange mosaic.

"Gum!" he said dramatically, and went back to his toll.

A friend of mine used to drive a taxi and, like most taxi drivers, he has acquired a pretty good judgment of human nature. I asked him how he used to choose prospective customers.

"By the look in their eyes" he countered. "You can tell a thing by their clothes. See that bozo there? He wouldn't get into the first taxi that came along. He would wait for a '15-and-5! The fat guys are usually the best prospects. They give the best tips."

Much has been said of the respective differences of men and women as "spenders." The instinctive thrift that marks the woman will come out in such matters as tips and other gratuitous fees it has been argued.

A "hasher" recently told me that the average tip of a woman is 10 cents against the 25 cents, or more, from men. Is this entirely thrift? "Partly," says my informer. "But

DEPARTMENT HEADS PREPARING BUDGETS

SACRAMENTO, July 2.—Heads of state departments are busy preparing their budget needs for 1927-28.

H. Robert Braden, member of the state board of control and budget maker for Gov. Friend W. Richardson, has sent out a notice asking that preliminary estimates be filed with the state board of control not later than August 15. The budget for the new biennium must be approved by the 1927 legislature.

When special appropriations or money for permanent improvements are requested, the heads of departments must convince the board that there is real necessity for the expenditures, Braden said.

RIVERSIDE.—Surpassing the record for June, 1925, by more than one million dollars, Riverside's bank clearings for the month just ended reached $4,765,869.37 at the close of business June 29, according to the Riv bank clearing house figures. The mark for the same period last year was $3,701,632.40. June's clearings brought the record for the first six months of 1926 to $28,665,932, more than six million dollars ahead of clearings for the first half of last year, which established a record at that time.

SANTA MONICA—Preparatory to launching a campaign for 200,000 population by 1930, the Greater Santa Monica club is laying plans to increase from 250 to 500 active members. At a luncheon here in the Santa Monica Athletic club, W. W. Bennett, president of the organization of community developers, who, more than a year ago prophesied the 200,000 population mark, urged continued advertising of the high standard set by Santa Monica. Bennett laid stress on the importance of constructing a breakwater and yacht harbor for Santa Monica bay. Plans for such a harbor have been materializing in conferences held by eminent engineers and Greater Santa Monica club members, the president stated.

PASADENA—An average of nearly $1,000,000 per month for building for the first six months of the calendar year was made in Pasadena as a result of the $1,169,566 total for June. With the exception of January, the June total is the largest for 1926, to date. The building for the first six months of 1925 totals $5,548,192. For the fiscal year closing June 30, the total was $10,181,938. Last year for the first six months, the building total in Pasadena was $5,073,889, while for 1923, the first six months total for $3,501,496, according to reports of the Municipal Inspection department. During June, 221 permits were issued, according to the report of Walter Putnam, chief inspector of

Political Periscope

SOME SIMPLY CAN'T MAKE UP MINDS TO THROW HATS IN COUNTY POLITICAL RING

It's easy to keep the old periscope steady these days.

True, it's been held in suspension for a week or so waiting for Harry Crooke, of Fullerton, to decide whether he would run against Jim Sleeper for county assessor, and it's been held in suspension while Attorney James L. Allen, of Santa Ana, was looking the field over before deciding whether he would be a candidate for superior judge.

Aside from these two matters still in transit, the political situation has settled down to an even pace.

To be sure, a little fireworks broke loose this week between the two candidates for sheriff. Sheriff Jernigan didn't like what he believed to be unfair criticism of his office, and he said so quite plainly. His opponent, ex-Sheriff Jackson, replied, "That's the first passage at arms we've had in print this campaign."

Allen Not Decided

The periscope got Attorney Allen yesterday, and put it up to him, something like this:

"Are you going to run for judge?"

Answering the insinuation, just right off the bat, Allen said:

"I don't know; I'll decide in a week or so."

Allen's announcement leaves the lay of the field in the race for superior judge still unsettled. So far, there are three candidates for two places. These three are Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, of Anaheim, District Attorney A. P. Nelson, of Santa Ana, and ex-Judge W. H. Thomas, of Santa Ana.

These three are all seeking the six-year terms, two to be elected. That leaves Judge E. J. Marks a free field for the short term of four years.

Crooke Can't Decide

Mayor Crooke has been doing a lot of thinking the past week. Each day he thinks the next day will be the day that he decides whether he will attempt to wrest the office of county assessor from Jim Sleeper.

And while Mayor Crooke is delaying, Sleeper has been doing some tall traveling around the county, so that should Mayor Crooke run, he'll find Sleeper has been out building up fences. And they say Sleeper is quite expert at that kind of fence-building.

Another prospective Fullerton candidate didn't take much time to reach a decision. Somebody had put it up to Attorney Sam Collins, a member of the American Legion and a member of the Republican County Central committee, to horn in on the fight for district attorney against Mozley and West. Collins took a look around, and concluded that he would save time and money by letting those two men fight it out without his interference.

Incidentally, there is a story afoot that there has been some effort made to get somebody to run against Bill Jerome for county auditor. The story is that there was a conference at Garden Grove a few nights ago at which there was talk that concerned Crooke's candidacy and that one of the visitors specified Jerome's office as a plum that somebody might be encouraged to try to pick, possibly with the idea of keeping Jerome busy. So far, however, no one has responded to the encouragement.

One New Candidate

The opening date for circulation of nomination petitions saw a good deal of activity along that line. It also brought out one new candidate, George L. Bates, who wants to be county surveyor. The position is now held by Capt. Warren Hillyard, and Hillyard does not propose to give up the place.

Four Hats in the Ring

If four make a crowd, then there's a crowd running for supervisor of the second district, which includes Huntington Beach, Garden Grove, Seal Beach and Talbert.

After giving the matter due consideration, Supervisor Tom Talbert decided that he would not be a candidate this time. At the time he reached this decision, there were three in the race—John Mitchell, of Garden Grove, Sterling Price, of Bolsa, and Leonard Obarr of Huntington Beach. Since Talbert's announcement was made, a fourth hat has been flung, just like that, into the ring. Its size and shape fits W. L. McKenney, storekeeper at Huntington Beach.

Four going, and three to go down. Unless one of the four gets more votes on August 31 than the other three put together, there'll have to be two heats, two rounds or two whatever it is that candidates have. Unless one man gets a majority of all votes cast, the two highest will have their names placed on the November ballot. Who'll be the two? Ask us something easy.

Three in the Fifth

It may take two elections to pick a supervisor in the fifth district, for there are three running there, Supervisor George Jeffrey, of Irvine, being opposed by former Supervisor Howard Wassum and S. W. Stanley, former president of the county farm bureau.

The fifth district offers some problems for the candidate. There was a time when 90 per cent of the vote of the district was a farmer and orchard vote. It was that way when George Angle ran against T. H. Smith, and when Jasper Leck was elected, and when Howard Wassum clambered over the fence onto the board.

But four years has made quite a difference. Delhi district contains several scores of Santa Ana homes. Costa Mesa and Newport Beach and Balboa have all grown. They're even asking for a post office at Corona Del Mar, Laguna Beach—just count the votes. San Juan Capistrano has a lot of restaurant and filling station voters.

And Tustin has grown a lot in the past four or eight years.

Decide It in August

Indications are that the supervisorial race in the fourth district will be held in August. There are only two candidates, Supervisor Willard Smith, who has lived at Villa Park for more than 40 years, and C. D. Lester. Smith has been serving as supervisor for a year and a half. Up around the courthouse

STATE OF NEW YORK LAUNCHES WAR ON CRIME

Senate Refuses To Vote Change In Park's Name

WASHINGTON, July 2—The senate last night passed the bill previously passed by the house, enlarging the boundaries of the Sequoia National park, in California, but balked at the house proposal to change the name of the park to the "Roosevelt-Sequoia."

Only three supervisors are to be elected this year. Supervisor S. H. Finley, of Santa Ana, and Supervisor William Schumacher, of Buena Park, were elected two years ago for four-year terms.

Few Left to November

It seems likely that there will be little left over in the county offices for determination in November. Where there are only two candidates for an office, the primaries almost certainly will decide the matter.

So far only two candidates have appeared for district attorney, two for surveyor, two for sheriff and three for treasurer. The treasurer contest with County Treasurer J. C. Joplin, James Livesey and Horace Fine, running, may require a second race. It will unless one of the three gets a majority of all votes cast August 31.

The new laws are based upon the recommendations of a joint legislative committee, which made a study of crime and the state penal laws.

They will have the effect of generally tightening up anti-crime regulations. An apparent anomaly among the crime laws is in that relating to gambling.

Instead of making the punishment more severe for that offense the new law reduced the penalties.

It was explained that this was for the purpose of making convictions easier.

81-STORY BUILDING

DETROIT, July 2—Construction of the world's highest building which will ascend 81 stories above the street at Washington boulevard, State street at Park place, was started yesterday with the razing of several landmarks.

A merger of import in the wholesale food trade yesterday was the purchase of the stock, good will, and fixtures of the United Wholesale Grocery company by Daley's, Inc.

Daley's, Inc., owns 160 retail grocery stores in Southern California.

The deal involved over $250,000. This is the third wholesale grocery establishment that has been purchased by Daley's, Inc. In the past 15 months, the first being the Creasey Wholesale Grocery company, which was acquired in April, 1925, and later the Adrien Loeb company, which was acquired by purchase in July, 1925.

The United Wholesale Grocery company, operates ten cash and carry wholesale stations in Los Angeles, and beach towns, and these will be continued. Daley's, Inc., expect to use their retail stores as an additional outlet to dispose of the merchandise acquired by this purchase.

The senate sat and quaked. It was terrible.

Finally, when Schall was through,

He didn't blame Magnus much. He said "he never knew what it was all about."

But for the contest's "injustices"—well, such expressions as "assassins of character," "slander," "skunks," "perjurers," "blackmailing pettifogger," "conscienceless shyster," "lying tongue," fell thick and fast from the senator's lips as he talked.

PRESIDENT WILL TURN FISHERMAN

WASHINGTON, July 2—President Coolidge intends to turn fisherman this summer during his vacation in the Adirondacks.

Not since he was a boy in Vermont has he indulged in the sport, but he plans to try his luck with rod and line, relying on secret service men, newspaper correspondents and others, who accompany him, for pointers.

The president's fishing plans were disclosed at the White House and, at the same time, it was said that he felt that his views on the sport had been misinterpreted about a year ago to make it appear that he considered fishing a sport for boys and unworthy of grown men.

It was recalled that at that time his opinion was sought as to the wisdom of stocking the tidal basin, near the White House, with fish.

He said he could see no advantage to it except to the boys of Washington, as he assumed grown-ups preferred to go farther from home for their fishing.

A number of the president's cabinet are fishermen, some having tried their luck in Florida waters, while others, like Attorney General Sargent, who is particularly fond of trout fishing, have whipped the streams of New England, where the president himself as a boy cast a line.

He's a rip-snorter.

Schall won over Magnus Johnson in the election of 1924 and Magnus filed a contest. It dragged along until the day Schall made that speech. A resolution—which was adopted—had been introduced declaring the contest, all off and Schall entitled to his senate seat.

Schall thought the time had come to tell what he thought about the people who put Johnson up, so he said, to contest his election. He surely told.

He doesn't like politicians. "Public opinion's the wind," he assured me once, "and a politician's the Miller. You've seen a windmill?

It turns and turns, as the wind shifts and shifts. No matter the direction, always it turns that miller's wheel and always it grinds grit for him."

"I appeal to the senator," said Senator Ashurst, "to withdraw this speech. I know how the passions rage when a man is falsely attacked, but I say to my friend from Minnesota, that, as the years roll on, he will regret this speech."

Doesn't that hint that it was quite a speech?

The fury of Schall's manner affected as he is, had as much to do with making it terrifying as the words.

For all his kindness, Thomas D.

Schall is no man to stir up.

Senator Shipstead's type is so unlike Schall's that one doubts if he'd bother about a personal atack on him.

He's interested in principles. On such subjects he can create as much of a rumpus—though again, an entirely different kind—as Schall.

Human rights, big policies, national tendencies, the trend of the world—those are the themes Henrik Shipstead waxes vehement on.

He can wax vehement to good effect. There isn't a finer presence

THE TRUSTEE'S JOB

Our sympathy frequently goes out to a city trustee. Not that sympathy is needed or sought, for the ordinary city trustee soon finds that among the multiplicity of problems that are before him he cannot afford to worry; he makes up his mind to give each matter due attention and to use his own best judgment fearlessly and, let it go at that.

No city trustee can please everyone. No experienced city trustee tries to do so. He does his duty and lets it go at that. He keeps in mind, however, the rights of the majorities with a view always to the general betterment of the city.

But he sometimes finds himself in a quandary. For instance, a majority petitions for something to be done. Then when the matter is decided as the majority wishes, another petition comes in asking that it be not done. Petitioners have changed their minds.

That kind of thing happens frequently. On one street three different majority petitions signified the kind of paving wanted, swinging from concrete to asphalt and back to concrete.

There is no way of stopping petitioners from changing their minds. Probably it is well that there is no way. New lights, new arguments, developments in facts and figures—there are many things that bring about an adjustment of opinion, and it is not to be expected that the public, as represented by a group of petitioners shall have an unchangeable mind any more than it is to be expected that an individual will not change.

Nevertheless, the situations that sometime arise prove embarrassing and difficult for a city trustee. And sometimes we wonder that it takes a council long to act. If we had gone through some of their experiences, doubtless we, too, would give those interested time to find out what they really want.

FROM MOUNTAINS TO SEA

The proposal to turn over to the State Highway Commission the paved highways connecting the San Bernardino Mountains with Newport Beach has met with approbation all along the route. Naturally, it would, for the reason that the expense of keeping up these highways would be turned over to the state. However, there is a better reason than that for supporting the movement. That reason lies in the fact that the Mountains-to-Sea highway is logically a state highway. It is a tri-counties highway, and as such has a good deal more than a mere local use.

San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties have a good many interests in common, and this highway is one of them.

The state's interest is to be found not only in the fact that the highways that make up this proposed state road connect three county seats but that they actually connect a number of state highways, listed by the San Bernardino Sun as follows:

The tri-counties road would connect the Foothill Boulevard, Rim of the World highway, National Old Trails and its connection, the Arrowhead Trail, and the San Bernardino-Yuma road and its connection, the Sunkist Trail, all at San Bernardino. The Valley Boulevard and the San Diego Inland route would connect at Riverside. The Los Angeles-San Diego highway at Santa Ana and the new coast highway at Balboa. The advantages of such a connecting highway in the state road system is apparent.

If the state takes over this highway, it would be able to carry out its policy of straightening and widening its much used highways, and several hundreds of thousands of residents of Southern California would thereby be greatly benefited.

SKILLED LABOR TEMPERATE

Writing about liquor conditions in Quebec which has a moderate degree of prohibition, Norman Hapgood says there are taverns left, and men do get drunk in them. But thereby hangs an interesting fact, applying to the whole of our modern industrial civilization.

The men he sees coming out of those taverns drunk, says Hapgood, are not skilled workmen. "They drink seldom, and almost never to excess." Those who get drunk are "a few sailors, and the lowest class of labor."

Thus in Quebec, as in the United States, skilled labor is characterized, not necessarily by total abstinence from liquor, but by temperance.

Modern industry is responsible for that, he concludes. Temperance naturally comes with high-powered machinery and the need of accurate, responsible manual work. Just as, according to Henry Ford, "the motor and drink don't mix," so drink and engineering don't mix, nor drink and carpentry, nor drink and bricklaying, nor drink and plastering, nor drink and trip-hammers.

Thus, for economic reasons, quite aside from moral reasons, there is every reason why this should be a sober age. It isn't merely the preachers, the women, the Anti-Saloon League that are responsible for the anti-liquor movement. The whole force of our modern industrial life is working against alcohol, because alcohol is the enemy of skilled industry and the intelligent workman would rather ride forward on a wave of industrial opportunity than sacrifice his future to booze.

MEASURED SUNSHINE

There is being installed in the Carnegie Desert Laboratory at Tucson, Ariz., a simple instrument, just invented, which will measure and record with great precision the health-giving rays of the sun. It is expected to be of great use in studying the intensity and nature of the various kinds of waves received from the sun, particularly the ultra-violet rays which cure rickets and anemia, kill disease germs and promote health in general.

There are other instruments already in use which measure the total light energy received from the sun in any locality.

These little instruments will probably play a big part hereafter not only in human health but in property values. All our energy comes from the sun, directly or indirectly. It is held that the fitness of any particular region for human habitation may depend, in the long run, on the amount of solar energy available there.

We shall soon have Florida, Arizona and other sunny states engaged in a solar controversy, appealing to settlers and investors on the basis of their available sun-power. Watering places and mountain resorts will vie with each other likewise in exploiting their potent sunshine, showing by exact figures just how quickly and severely a visitor may get himself sunburnt by exposing himself to their local sun.

England boasts of a blacksmith who bends railroad spikes double and twists bars of horseshoe steel into loops. He'll get a job yet changing tires.

Lending Name to Unworthy Cause

—San Bernardino Sun

Perhaps there's something in a name, and when the practical politicians seeking more complete control of the California legislature launched the All Parties Reapportionment committee in Los Angeles, doubtless they prided themselves on the result of the mental effort that chose this title under which they might masquerade. For the "All Parties" committee merely a smoke screen by means of which the Los Angeles political machine hopes to join hands with similar organizations in San Francisco and Alameda counties to take over the control of the legislature and hence of the government of the state of California. For be it remembered, if the legislative districts of the state could be rearranged as they want them, there would be 61 members of the legislature from these three counties, and 59 members from all the rest of California.

But we confess to some surprise to see such an honored name as that of Dr. George F. Bovard, president emeritus of the University of Southern California, loaned for the purposes of this "All Parties" committee, and to give it caste standing.

Until these selfish metropolitan political interests can prove that the basis for representation in congress is a mistake, they are estopped from objecting to its adoption in the California legislature. Every state in the union has two senators at Washington, and membership in the house of representatives in proportion to population. For instance, the neighboring state of Arizona has two senators, as has the great state of New York, but at the same time Arizona has one representative and New York has 48 representatives.

The California farm bureau, supported by many other fair-minded people, plans to adopt as nearly as possible, that basis for the legislature of this state—not more than one member of the state senate from any county, one from Los Angeles, one from San Francisco, one from San Bernardino, etc., but Assemblymen apportioned on the basis of population, and the three big counties of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda will have 41 members of the assembly, while the other counties will have 31 assemblymen among them.

Sign the petitions for the farm bureau initiative.

May Be Special Session

—Sacramento Bee

There is talk of a special session of congress next Fall. One reason suggested for this is the impeachment trial of Federal Judge George W. English of Illinois by the senate, set for November 10th.

The point has been raised that it might not be legal unless the house of representatives were in session at the same time.

At all events, it seems certain that both houses could find plenty to talk about, not only during the Fall months but all Winter as well.

The charges against English allege usurpation of power and tyrannical conduct in connection with the shopmen's strike in August, 1922, and also other judicial misdemeanors in court proceedings, all of which he has denied.

He declared with relation to the strike all that he did was no more than his duty in efforts to prevent "a repetition of the Herrin massacre."

The preliminaries of the trial began in April last, the senate sitting as a court of impeachment, on the basis of accusations framed by the lower house, and in accordance with the provisions of the constitution concerning such cases.

Health Topics

Surgeon General, United States Health Service

PROGRESS IN PUBLIC HEALTH WORK

Nothing like a complete story of the benefits of public health work can be told in a short series of brief articles.

The most that is hoped is to awaken such an interest, to impart such a conviction as will lead to the pursuit of this subject in some of the many excellent books on health topics that are now available, including publications issued by the government.

These articles are written for the layman and if one may judge from the number of persons in hospitals, insane asylums, and other institutions, who are there as a result of disease which could have been prevented, one may be pardoned for observing that in spite of our rapid progress in the healing and prevention of disease, the broad fundamental principles underlying this work are not yet clearly perceived by the masses and by many of those who make our laws.

The human mind is readily and forcibly impressed by positive experiences, particularly by unpleasant or painful experiences.

The infant, for example, learns some very simple but valuable lessons by bumping its head, burning its fingers or putting wrong things into its mouth.

The ever watchful parent tries to make these lessons as mild and painless as possible, and to obviate the necessity for this natural mode of instruction by guarding the child against such accidents until its mind, its sensibilities, its wider consciousness, and its powers of observation have developed sufficiently to enable it to protect itself without paying the heavier penalties of experience.

The parent is to the child the skillful physician, to the untrained man or woman and the lesson it is desired to inculcate today is that while it is desirable that one should learn everything possible about his body and his health, his course of instruction must be scientifically guided.

It must be remembered that the layman's knowledge of actual disease processes and their treatment can never be profound.

Notwithstanding this fact, any intelligent person can, by reasonable effort learn the essentials of the application of measures for the prevention of disease.

These little instruments will probably play a big part hereafter not only in human health but in property values. All our energy comes from the sun, directly or indirectly. It is held that the fitness of any particular region for human habitation may de-

Surpassing Summers

—Pasadena Star-News

Summer in Southern California! Contemplate it. Not a season of deadly extremes. How many persons have died of heat in this section? How often does one hear of heat prostrations here? Very, very rarely!

To all who are here now for the first summer trip, let it be known that summer is one of the delightful seasons of the year in Southern California. The other delightful seasons here, besides summer, are autumn, winter and spring! There is no disagreeable season here. Each season has its own attractiveness. The four seasons are not alike, except in one particular—they are mild and delightful.

Summer here is especially attractive. Visitors should be informed by public spirited residents that there is very little excessive heat here—that it is very unusual to have "unusual" weather here—with apologies to this poor, overworked word "unusual."

Summer heat here is not sultry and prostrating. Men work right in the sun through the warmest days and suffer no ill effects. There are few days and few nights without cooling breezes. The mean summer temperature here is low—comfortably low.

Inland, where desert once reigned, but where the genius and energy of man has transformed the arid waste into fruitfulness, the summer temperatures are higher. But the air there is free from humidity, and even the higher temperatures are tolerable. Meanwhile, the summer sun is bringing ripening growth to golden oranges and to diversified soil crops. Semi-tropical products are brought to harvest under this genial warmth.

There are cool, secluded spots almost innumerable in this Southland for the summer vacation—for rest and recreation. By ocean shore, or on mountain height, or in shaded canyons, playgrounds the most delightful are found.

Worth While Verse

THE SEA WIND TO THE GIRL

"Maiden, you will not easily find
A lover as gay, a lover as kind
As I," sang the sea-born wind.

"I'm a pirate who brings you many a gift
Snatched on my course where the lone waves lift
Over the blue sea-drift.

"The spice I bear from the gentle south
In foam-cool kisses will slake the drouth
Of your heart and your heart-red mouth.

"I toss your bronze hair and pillow your dress,
Yet you need not fear I ever will press
On you an untender caress,

"As my strong invisible arms enfold,
Body and limbs, your spirit's mould
With joy that no thought can hold!

"I share the quiver of your delight,
The thrill of your slenderness, moonbeam-white,
The flash of your eyes, dusk-bright.

"Oh maiden, wed not until you find
A lover as selfless and clean and kind
As I," sang the sea-born wind.

—Charles Wharton Stork in the Gypsy.

The Very Idea!

By Hall Cochran

Looka here, daughter, an' looka here, son, you've finished your school, so they say. The long task of learnin' and plannin' is done. You're turnin' to work, now, from play.

Of course you are wond'ring what future's ahead. The channel you're takin' is new. You'd like some advice? Well, the best to be said, is the future is all up to you.

The world doesn't owe you a living at all. Don't let that idea get set. You'll rise to the top on your own; or you'll fall. You've got to earn what you get.

The knowledge within means a whole lot without, but not without usin' it well. The way the game's played works your salvation out, and
